CHAMBERLAIN AND HITLER MEET

City Housing Authority Approved

SEE $2,000,000 PROJECT

Temporary Committee Looks for Erection of 500 Low Cost Homes.

The establishment of a Metropolitan Housing Authority in Mansfield to conduct a slum clearance program had been approved today by the state housing board.

The approval was granted at a public hearing conducted at Columbus yesterday at which city and county officials and Mansfield business men were present.

Mayor Pushes Plan.

Hastening to get the project under way, Mayor Claude M. Hunter today called for a meeting of the county appointing authority which will be held either tomorrow or Saturday.

Members of the appointing committee are Hunter, Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston, Probate Judge C. J. Anderson and County Commissioners C. L. Mitchell, Ray Hout and Guy Stewart. Hunter will appoint two, while the others will select one each to make up the five-man board.

Double Original Proposal.

Originally proposed as a $1,000,000 low cost housing program, the plan now call for a $2,000,000 project, decided on by the committee after it had been suggested by the state housing board.

Such a program would call for the erection of approximately 500 model homes with a maximum monthly rental of $5 per room.

The delegation heard by the state board at the hearing was led by Mayor Hunter who reviewed the needs of the slum clearance program here and the need for the erection of the low cost housing units.

Others to address the board were George C. Kyle, chairman of the temporary committee; C. W. Conklin, secretary of the group; E. B. Kallmerten, Judge C. H. Huston, Ray Hout, Lester Reading and Paul Williams, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

Williams said that low cost housing has been one of Mansfield's most serious problem for years and that the need for the units was "just as bad if not worse" than larger cities who have already taken advantage of the plan.

The low cost housing program is financed by the federal government which has already allocated $65,000,000 to Ohio for this purpose.

ADDS HUNDREDS

Registration for Bond Issue Closes, New Record Seen.

The registration period for the special school bond election next Tuesday closed last night with the names of hundreds of new voters added to the city registration lists.

The board of elections office was swamped throughout the day with registrations and transfers as residents sought the right to vote at the special election.

Figures will not be available until tomorrow or Saturday, but A. F. Porter, board clerk, said a new registration record was expected.

Meanwhile, persons who will be out of the city Tuesday or unable to go to the polls may vote an absent ballot until midnight Saturday, Porter said. Mail applications for ballots must be in the elections office before noon Saturday.

PURVIS WEDS

Former G-Man Who Got Dillinger, Marries Widow.

CHARLOTTE, N. C.—(U.P.)—Melvin Purvis, former G-man credited with ending the criminal career of John Dillinger, was en route to New York with his bride today after being married here.

Purvis was married to Mrs. Rosanne Willcox Taylor of Florence, S. C., in a quiet ceremony at Charlotte's First Baptist chapel.

Thirteen Arguments for the School Bonds

Pupils From Every District Call For 'Yes' Vote.

By EDWARD FISHER
Eighth Grade, Hedges Jr. High.

September and back to school again. Yes, back to school but what a school! Some of my classes are held in the old fire trap of a building at Hedges that was built in 1870, a building that is supposed to represent the schools of 1938, but to see it you would think that you were living back in the gay 90's that I have read about. But it isn't gay for us kids who have to go there.

If I want to go to the toilet I don't go to what the people of 1938 would call a toilet. Instead I go to an old 1870 dilapidated toilet bowl with a cracked wooden circle for a seat.

On my way back to the first floor, I go up a stairway of worn, weak and ready-to-fall-apart lumber. It could trap any number of children if there was a fire and burn them to death. It makes me nervous when I think I might be one of them.

Have to Rent Floor.

What do we kids do for recreation? Mostly basketball but the school has to rent the "Y" or Salvation Army's basketball floor and in turn charge the others a dime to see us kids play. The money pays for the rent of the floor. Our new school would have a gymnasium so that all my school mates could enjoy regularly organized sports classes.

The new school would have an auditorium in which we could have our plays and concerts and we would have the advantages of a school assembly.

When I go to the library, I go to a small unlighted corner of the second floor. An hour's time of reading there will certainly weaken my eyes.

I belong to the band and orchestra and I know what trouble it is to have a rehearsal. Everything has to be cleared out of one small room and the chairs and music stands put up. This takes ten minutes and then the same operation has to be performed after rehearsal, leaving only about 30 minutes of actual playing.

Among the most important things the proposed new schools will have are indirect lighting, an auditorium, gymnasium, music rooms, cafeteria, well equipped shop and home economics rooms. There won't be any more fire trap stairways or unsanitary rest rooms.

Too Far?

Some mothers complain of the distance to the proposed new school in the south and yet their kids will walk all of the way to the Liberty Park swimming pool. With school buildings like the proposed no child would hate to go to school or worry about walking a few extra blocks to get there. Gee, I'd be glad to walk two miles to a school like the ones they want to build for us.

Why can't the junior high boys and girls in Mansfield have the same advantages for an education as the boys and girls in our neighboring cities? Come on parents, give us kids a break.

By MARY ROADPOUCH
Sixth Grade, Bowman School.

If the citizens of Mansfield will pass the bond issue on Tuesday, Sept. 20, 1938 all the children of Mansfield will prosper.

The bond issue is to build a new junior high school on Cline avenue, rebuild the old junior high and provide all elementary schools except Western and Woodlawn with new toilet facilities.

There is to be a special election on Sept. 20, 1938. If the $550,000 bond issue passes, the government will give us $450,000 if we start work before Jan. 1, 1939. As a result of its passing, 250 men will be put to work.

Twenty-one of Mansfield's leading organizations have approved the bond issue.

Mansfield has built the least new schools in Ohio since 1900. There have been only 3 new schools built since 1900.

By GEORGE MOGA
Sixth Grade, Newman School.

How much fun it is to move into a new house! Everything is so bright, so shiny, so light, so clean that it makes you feel as if you really want to work.

My daddy and mother are going to vote for the school bond issue so that I may move into a new school building next fall.

If all our mothers and fathers will vote for it, all of us sixth graders of Newman will be able to go to a new building next fall.

The new building will have plenty of windows that will give us plenty of light, and we can save electric bills and eyesight both at the same time.

In the new school we will have enough room for our books so we don't have to bother the class getting them out of someone else's desk.

Our sixth grade is learning to act out plays. By next year we will show how to give long plays. It will be fun to give them in a new auditorium. Will you come to hear our plays and musicales in the new building?

When we get the new buildings, the Newman school will get new toilets. My fifth grade friends will be glad of that. Even if we were only getting new toilets, it would be worth the dollar or so a year that my daddy and mother will have to pay.

In the summer I go to a show about every week. It costs me ten cents each time. I could earn the whole dollar myself that the new buildings will cost my daddy and mother by staying home from ten shows. I wouldn't mind staying home from shows ten Sunday afternoons if I could go to a brand new school building for three years, would you?

By RALPH JOHNS
Sixth Grade, Bushnell School.

Do you have any children in school? If you do, I'm sure that you know the condition that most of the schools are in, and will be sure to vote for the school bond issue next Tuesday, Sept. 20. If the school bond issue doesn't pass on this date the money will be given to another city, and Mansfield will be the loser.

Here are just a few of the reasons why we need new junior high schools. First: some of the schools have bad lighting because of few windows and have to use artificial lighting most of the time. The lighting fixtures are also out of date and do not provide good light for study. Second: most of the stairs are of wood and if a fire would start on one of the floors it would quickly work its way to the stairs causing them to collapse, trapping the children above. Third: parts of John Simpson have been condemned for years as unsafe. Fourth: the toilets are run down and are of the old-fashioned kind and need to be replaced very badly.

WHAT CITY'S PUPILS THINK

Herewith The News-Journal presents 13 sincere arguments for passage of the $550,000 school bond issue at the special election next Tuesday.

They are 13 essays—one written by a pupil in each of the city's 13 schools. They are the expressions of the pupils themselves—and no one else. The News-Journal presents them as it received them.

GEORGE, FOE OF NEW DEAL, WINS

(By United Press)

ATLANTA, Ga.—Lawrence Camp, President Roosevelt's senatorial candidate in Georgia, conceded defeat today as he lagged hopelessly in returns from yesterday's primary in which New Deal adherence was the only issue.

Sen. Walter F. George, the incumbent, whom Mr. Roosevelt repudiated to his face on a speaking platform, was piling up a lead over the third candidate, former Governor Eugene Talmadge.

Nomination, equivalent to election, is decided on a county unit vote plan. Counties have from two to six units each—a total of 159 counties and 410 units—and Camp had carried only four counties; 18 units.

Complete reports from 108 counties gave George 178 units from 61 counties; Talmadge 104 units from 43 counties. At that time George was leading in counties that contained a total unit vote of 216, and Talmadge was ahead in counties with 166 units. Should those leads continue, George would have a majority and would be nom-

City, county and township officials were still "in the dark" today in their attempts to find a source for relief, although they were considering a number of possibilities opened by recently enacted state relief laws.

While a new state law has opened the way for borrowing against anticipated collections of sales tax funds and delinquent real estate taxes, officials said they must obtain information from the state auditor concerning the procedure in seeking the loans.

CRACKS RECORD

Cobb Zooms Over Salt Flats at 350.2 Miles Per Hour.

The doughty fur broker smashed the record of 345.49 miles per hour established here Aug. 27 by Capt. George E. T. Eyston, retired British army officer.

Cobb, a new man at high speed racing, flashed through the measured mile at 353.29 going north and 347.16 on the southward run.

Eyston's average for the north run was 347.49 and for the south 343.51.

War or Peace?

MUNICH—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Britain arrived by air from London and proceeded by special train to Berchtesgaden for his man-to-man talk with Reichsfueher Adolf Hitler.

PRAGUE—Renewed fighting occurred in Sudetenland as Sudeten leaders exhorted their followers to defend themselves from "murder." Reports were current Viscount Runciman, British Mediator, planned a first-hand tour of the disordered region.

BERLIN—German officialdom expressed belief that a single hour of "honest discussion" between Chamberlain and Hitler would suffice to solve the crisis.

LONDON — Chamberlain's wife led prayers for peace at Westminster Abbey.

BERLIN—(INS)—The Sudeten crisis moved into a new and acute stage today when a general strike was proclaimed throughout the Sudeten area. The action was taken shortly after Konrad Henlein, Sudeten leader, issued a proclamation stating he and his followers demanded nothing less than outright union with Nazi Germany.

ROME —(AP)— Italian assurance was given today that Adolf Hitler would not take the Czech population of Czechoslovakia even as "a gift." This was interpreted as an indirect offer of Germany to guarantee the Czechs integrity of their new frontier if they give up the Sudeten areas to the reich.

PRAGUE—(U.P.)—The Czechoslovakian government today proclaimed martial law in five more districts of the Sudeten area. This brings the total to 16 districts in which martial law has been proclaimed.

BERLIN—(AP)—DNB, the official German news agency, reported today in a dispatch from Neugersdorf, Saxony, near the Czechoslovakia border, that war preparations in northern Czechoslovakia were alarmingly on the increase. The population of the northern regions, DNB declared, was in a panic.

BUDAPEST, Hungary—(U.P.)—Large contengents of Hungarian troops were moving toward the borders, it was said at a reliable source today. The Hungarian press made sharp demands for a plebiscite among the Hungarian minority in Czechoslovakia.

HELSINGFORS, Finland —(INS)—The newspaper Uusi Suomi, organ of the national coalition party of Finland, reported today that 750,000 Soviet troops and 2,000 warplanes are concentrated in the Soviet Union's vast Ukraine district.

Europe Sees Peace or War at Stake in Momentous Parley at Fuehrer's Retreat.

(By United Press)

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany—The head of the British government came to these Bavarian hills today and joined the fuehrer of greater Germany in face-to-face talks which may change the course of world history.

In a sense, peace or war lay in the hands of Neville Chamberlain and Adolf Hitler.

Chamberlain's party arrived by train from Munich, after a 600-mile flight there from London, at 4:10 p. m. (10:10 a. m. EST).

Chamberlain was greeted with "Heils" and Nazi salutes by a crowd of 400 to 500, dressed in Bavarian costumes.

He was smiling as he emerged bareheaded from the station. After a sunshiny morning, a cold drizzle was falling.

There for 'Showdown.'

He brought the ultimate Britain and France has to offer to satisfy Germany's demand for self determination for the Sudeten German minority in Czechoslovakia.

He sought in return an unequivocal statement of the minimum concessions which Hitler will accept, and a clear outline of his future aims.

The conference may have one of several outcomes.

1. Hitler and Chamberlain may agree on a program. If Czechoslovakia accepts it, the crisis is over, at least for the time being.

2. If Czechoslovakia refuses to accept any program which may be decided on, the crisis is worse than before, and the threat of armed intervention by Germany, with resultant war, is renewed.

3. If Hitler and Chamberlain

SHUT BY STRIKE

Plymouth Factory Closed; 7,000 Out of Work.

DETROIT—(U.P.)—The Plymouth plant of Chrysler corporation, employing 7,000 men, was forced to shut down production on 1939 models today as a result of a strike at the Briggs Mack Avenue body plant.

The Plymouth plant closed at 10:45 o'clock, its activities paralyzed by lack of bodies produced at Briggs. Officials of Chrysler said that additional plants would be shut down tomorrow unless Briggs re-opens. Briggs supplies Chrysler bodies.

UAW officials said the Briggs strike was called when the company persisted in using a production speed-up and fired two men —one of them a shop steward— for objecting to the increased rate.

You Want To Buy a License, Do You? Well, You Just Can't

About 20,000 of the new 1938-39 drivers' licenses were scheduled to go on sale this morning at the Richland County Automobile club office, but they didn't — because there were no licenses to sell.

Frank Beverstock, deputy registrar, said supplies, including the licenses and application blanks, had not arrived at the office today and were not expected before tomorrow morning.

They will be put on sale as soon as they are received. The deadline for driving with present licenses is Oct. 1. As in the past a license will cost 40 cents with chauffeur's license 90 cents.

Applicants will be required to swear that the information on the application is true to his best knowledge and belief, Beverstock said. He added that applicants under 21 years of age must be accompanied by their father and if he is not living, their mother.

The auto club is the only place in the county where a chauffeur's license can be obtained.

Special office hours have been set up at the club for the remaining two weeks of the month to handle license sales. Tomorrow and Saturday the office will be open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Next week the hours will be 8 a. m. to 8 p. m., Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, and 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., Tuesday and Thursday. During the week of Sept. 26 the office will be open every day from 8 a. m. until 8 p. m.

CHAPTER 42.

THE NEXT day Betsy seemed much better. But Noel still felt that Julian should see her. She hadn't any idea how she would manage it as yet, but consoled herself with the thought that a way would present itself. If she had to, she could wait until midnight when she was sure the household would be asleep, then slip down the back stairs with the child.

When Sunday came, Betsy was so much better, Noel decided it would be safe to leave her for a little while. There were many things Noel had in mind to do. But she didn't intend to stay away from Betsy long. She planned to be back with her by 7 that evening She also decided that she wouldn't wait any longer to take her to Julian's office. This would be as good a chance as she would have to telephone Julian that she was coming, and to make arrangements to have a taxi waiting not too near the house. She thought by 10 the household might be asleep. But if not, she would wait longer.

Since reading the announcement of Julian's engagement, Noel had tried to keep from thinking of him. But it was hard to do. People who dream wake up, she told herself stoically. She had lost. Ruth Chester had won. If she (Noel) hadn't been prepared to face this fact, she should have been. She certainly had had sufficient forewarning. But always when the thought of Julian came, she was conscious of a hard knot of pain in her heart, and that the foolish tears were close behind her eyes.

At half past 3 Noel took a cab and went out to Jimmy's house The door was opened by a heavy set, dark-browned women in a neat house dress. Jimmy's mother, of course. Noel was glad Jimmy wasn't here. She hadn't any idea how his mother would take what she had come here to tell her, and was relieved that Jimmy wouldn't be a witness to the conversation.

In answer to Noel's request to see her for a moment, Mrs. Delevan said she couldn't imagine why, in a rather curt voice.

"A matter of business," Noel said, and plunged right straight to the point. "You exacted a promise from your son that he should never marry until after your death," she began.

The woman stiffened. "And what is that to you?" she demanded coldly.

"Just this I'm here to find out if you would release Jimmy from his promise if you were guaranteed a sum of money which would make it possible for you to live luxuriously, say in a nice hotel, for the rest of your life."

Jimmy's mother stared at her "Are you crazy?"

"I'm quite sane." Noel said with a smile. "I'll give you the check now. You'll find you can cash it. The only condition is that you tell Jimmy he can marry when he pleases and any girl he pleases. You can name the amount."

* * *

Mrs. Delevan still stared at Noel as if she believed she had recently escaped from an asylum for the insane, but she wasn't the type of woman to skip any bets So she said promptly, "Ten thousand dollars."

"I'll make it $20,000," Noel said She took a checkbook and fountain pen from her bag, and wrote out the check.

Then she said "Remember you are to release Jimmy from his promise at once."

"Of course," the woman replied in a dazed voice.

The next place Noel went was to Maida's, who still lived a few blocks from Mrs. Blarson's on Court street.

The house was a tenement, badly in need of paint and repairs. It was an awful place, and appeared to be leaning to one side, threatening to collapse at any moment from sheer weariness and neglect

Noel climbed two flights of rickety stairs, hearing babies cry, voices raised in quarrels amid the clatter of pots and pans, and the squeak of a cheap radio.

Maida came to the door. "Why, Noel!" she exclaimed in surprise. She was interrupted by a rather shrill voice. "Mom, mon. that's the lady what give me the tenner."

Noel recognized the little boy who sold papers on the corner from the Garwood house. She smiled, "Why, you're Joey," she said. "I didn't know you were Maida's son."

Maida was looking at Noel timidly, a flush on her thin face. "You hadn't ought to have given him so much money, Noel, though we sure did need it. You see, Nick fired me. I just got so tired, didn't have any pep, I guess."

"Don't you worry about that," Noel comforted her. Then she told her that she and Joey were to get ready for a month's vacation somewhere in the country. Any place she wanted to go. She pulled out her checkbook, while little Joey danced around in high glee. "The country—oh, mom, can you believe that?"

"But, Noel, can you—I mean, ought you—I can't let you do it," she finished unhappily, her eyes hungrily on the check.

"You can't help yourself," Noel told her happily. Then went on to say that when Maida and Joey came back, there'd be a nice school for Joey and a little home somewhere with a garden perhaps and maybe a cow or two and some chickens. And Joey would have his bicycle and there'd be some money coming in every month, and all their hard times would be over

Maida was crying now, timidly, heart-breakingly. "Honestly, Noel I—don't know what to say. How can you do all this when you—you're poor too?"

"Maybe I've come into a fortune," Noel told her as she left. She felt as if she had come into a fortune for the first time in her life. Noel decided as she walked up Court and turned down a cross street to get to Madison.

When she was nearing the Medical Arts which she had to pass on her way to get a bus out to Belvedere, she suddenly found herself facing Ruth Chester. This was the first time she had seen her when she was not in her uniform. She was wearing a summer frock of raspberry red organdy and a white felt hat trimmed in the same color of velvet ribbon was pulled down low over her dark curls. There was something about this color which seemed to give her hair and eyes a sort of rich purplish light. There wasn't any doubt about it—Ruth Chester was beautiful.

To Noel's surprise, she saw that Ruth was slowing up—that she intended to stop. Then they were standing there together in front of the Medical Arts. However, Ruth just looked at Noel in silence a light of triumph in her eyes.

Finally Noel said, trying to keep her voice light, "I hear congratulations are in order?"

Ruth Chester smiled. "I suppose you'll go to Europe and join your friends now, won't you? Most people know who you are anyway."

"Oh, I don't know," Noel answered nonchalantly and would have passed on, but the nurse stopped her. "I told you Julian Paige would never do—marry a rich girl with a sort of angry emphasis. "He was interested in you slightly, but you never had a chance in the world. That's the one thing Julian would never do—marrya rich girl. You've no idea how many society girls have been after him."

"I have an idea," Noel said coldly, and added, "also a few working girls as well." With that, she walked on.

Noel supposed Ruth Chester was going to Julian's office. They probably expected to have dinner together. Well, let them. Julian had made his choice, hadn't he? But anyway, Noel stopped and telephoned Julian, telling him that she was bringing the child to him tonight. He promised her that he would wait until she came. His voice sounded queerly restrained. Noel thought. And she wondered if it was only her imagination.

She went back to the Garwood house then. Betsy seemed as well as she had been. But Noel thought this might be her very best chance to take her to Julian, so she went on with her plans:

The minutes seemed to drag by, but at last it was 10, and the house was still. Noel knew the taxi would be waiting. So she awakened the sleeping child, put a light wrap around her and they started down the backstairs.

But just before they reached the street, Noel was seized and blindfolded. She heard a little cry from Betsy—then nothing more.

Farmer, Asking $25,000 Damages, Blames 'Jail Malady'.

URBANA —(U.P.)— A $25,000 damage suit filed by Orla Heffner, a farmer, stated today that Heffner spent one day in the Champaign county jail and developed a "a peculiar malady" that made his hair fall out.

Heffner's petition alleged that the malady developed on the left side of his head, "starting with a spot no larger than a dime, spreading rapidly, and now about three inches in diameter."

John Swimley, Heffner's farm landlord, was named defendant. The suit also charged Swimley with false arrest of Heffner in connection with a fraud accusation arising from sale of hogs.

CITY PUMPING STATION CLOSED

Longview Unit to Be Used for Emergencies; 2 Attendants Laid Off; Dump Shifted.

City officials today ordered the Longview waterworks pumping station closed except for emergencies and at the same time closed the Longview dump and dropped two employes from the city payroll with a monthly savings of $100, Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist announced.

The two men, neither of whom were under civil service, are William Partello and James Austin, who have alternated as pumpmen at the station and dump attendants.

Nist said the action was decided upon when residents in the vicinity complained about the smoke from the dump. A new city dump was opened today at the rear of the sewage treatment plant on Park avenue east on city property. It will be under the supervision of Lester Linham, superintendent of the garbage disposal plant.

The Longview pumping station which has been operated only part time will now be operated by remote control in case of emergency from the North Main street station, Nist said. An ample water supply from the city's wells in the Maxwell field makes the shutdown possible.

THE PARK THEATER

The Park Theater in Mansfield is one of the finest theaters in the country. Conveniently located, with ample space for parking, and a structure that is not only strongly built but modernistic as well in appearance, it bids fair to become the leading theater in Mansfield.

30,000 CINDER UNITS

went into the construction of this imposing edifice! Units that will guarantee not only strength and durability to the building itself but will assist immeasurably in producing the finest and clearest acoustical system. Patrons of this new theater need never worry about the hazard of fire, for the building is absolutely fireproof. Modern builders, we say, specify Cinder units when building, whether a bungalow or towering office building.

PUPILS SUBMIT OWN ARGUMENTS ON BOND ISSUE

When you are thinking these reasons over remember that if the school bond issue goes through it will put more men to work also. So remember it's not only Give Us Kids a Break! It's Give Us Kids and Our Dads Both a Break!

By ERNEST PENNELL
(Fifth Grade, Carpenter School)

The News-Journal has printed why the school bond issue should pass John Simpson building has been condemned for a long time. It is a fire trap. It will cost the taxpayer less now than later, because now is the time for us to get our share of the federal grants. It will give work to many people. It has been endorsed by leading organizations.

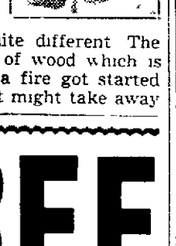
Other Ohio cities have built from 10 to 17 new schools in the last 20 years and Mansfield's record is only three.

But the reason I want the school bond issue to pass is because I will go to junior high in a couple of years, and I don't want to go to a building that isn't safe. I don't want to go where it is so crowded that it is dangerous to be in the halls or on the stairs while classes are changing. I don't want to be burned in a school fire. I don't want to ruin my eyes in a poorly lighted room.

Every child in Mansfield will have to go to a junior high school of this kind if the bond issue does not pass.

By FRED WERNER
Sixth Grade, Western

I am hoping the school bonds are approved because it will mean a lot to me.



I am expecting to attend Junior High next year and have heard and read that our buildings are not safe. Children should not have to go to school in buildings that are not safe and it would mean a lot to parents and myself to know that I was going to school where the building was modern.

A modern building would have better lighting and sanitary conditions, which means continued good health. There would also be a better arrangement of rooms and overcrowding would be gone.

We would probably have a first class cafeteria and a better gymnasium.

All this means a lot to me.

By BEVERLY NOEL
(Sixth Grade, Woodland School)

Why should Mansfield pass the bond issue? Because John Simpson school is too crowded and was condemned 15 years ago. It was condemned four years before I was born, and yet I must go to it next year.

On the outside of John Simpson it appears strong and sturdy, but the inside is quite different. The halls are made of wood which is old and dry. If a fire got started in the building it might take away the lives of many children.

What else will they do with the $550,000 besides building two new junior high schools? They will add rooms to the Senior high school where girls and boys will be taught trades. All the schools except Woodland and Western will get clean, sanitary toilet systems.

Why is this an appropriate time for the building program? Because the government will not give us the $450,000 after Oct. 1, 1938. So why not vote for it, before it is too late?

By NANCY McCOMBS
Brinkerhoff School.

I think Mansfield should be ashamed of its schools and take advantage of the opportunity to get two new junior high schools.

The present buildings are not safe, and are overcrowded now. The new buildings will be in easy reach of every junior high school pupil.

This gives us a chance to get two new buildings for the price of one. The project will give 250 men employment for almost a year.

For boys and girls who can't go to college, a new vocational shop will also be built on the senior high school building.

All grade schools except Western and Woodland will get new toilet facilities.

It will cost the home owner 43 cents on each thousand dollars of appraised property. The federal government has offered to give us $450,000 if we vote for the bond issue.

Other surrounding cities have built several new buildings while Mansfield has built very few and we need two new junior high schools.

By JEAN MILUM
Fifth Grade, West Fifth School.

New schools are needed in our city for many reasons.

There are many rooms that are not well lighted, which affects our eyes.

In the classrooms it is very crowded, dark and dingy and not very attractive. Pupils must sit together in class. John Simpson junior high is not modern nor sanitary. The halls are long and dark. It would be hard for any child to escape from a big fire.

Would it not be better to have new schools than to have many children killed or injured?

There are a lot of children who are in grade school yet who will be in John Simpson Junior high. Before something serious happens, let us have a new school building.

Mansfield is a modern city and I think we should have modern schools.

By CLARA IVANICS
(Ninth Grade, Simpson Jr. High)

How would you parents like to spend five days a week in a school built in horse and buggy days? Not very well, I presume.

Neither do we who attend John Simpson. When we read even a short time our eyes ache because the lighting is so poor; we often bang our heads against uncovered pipes as we hurry to the cafeteria, or run into someone because halls and stairways are so crowded.

When the proposed bond issue passes on Sept. 20, two new junior high schools can be built, one on Cline avenue near Wood, and the other where John Simpson now stands.

In addition, antiquated sanitary facilities in grade schools can be modernized and badly-needed vocational equipment added at Senior high.

All this can be done and yet your taxes will not be increased more than you would spend for cigarets in a month or for movies in a year.

By GEORGE MURRAY
Tenth Grade, Senior High.

We high school kids are glad to see the younger children get a chance at those new junior highs.

I went to John Simpson. While passing through the narrow halls I have been in such crowds that in case of a fire it's hard to tell what might have happened. In the upper part of the building we used to walk over a certain spot where the floor would sink a couple of inches. In different rooms there are low-hanging pipes making it very easy to strike your head. There isn't any locker system and we had to hang our coats in cloak halls, our books went in desks used by other pupils.

I remember the dimly lighted halls and stairways where a dropped book could cause a bad fall. We'd go in one room and about roast and then in the next one we'd get the chills; this because of the structure of the building.

I think that in a new modernized building children would have a better chance with their studies.

By JENEVIEVE BAKER
Sixth Grade, Hedges School.

I am in the sixth grade at Hedges school. Next year I will be in Junior High school. The boys and girls in my class would like to have a gymnasium in our school, so we can play basketball and other things which we can't play now.

An auditorium would be nice, so we could give programs for our parents and friends without tearing up rooms. The lighting in our Junior High isn't good and it will be hard for us to study.

Our buildings are not fireproof. We might get burned on the wooden stairs in case of fire. We need modern rest rooms where we can lie down when we don't feel well. Our shop where the boys work is down in a dark basement. They need a well lighted room in which to work.

Many cities smaller than Mansfield are giving all these things to their junior high pupils. Haven't we boys and girls in the sixth grade enough friends in Mansfield to pass the bond issue, so we can have the same opportunities boys and girls in other cities have?

By VIRGINIA WAGNER
Sixth Grade, Prospect School.

We children of Mansfield want to be proud of our schools, but how can we be proud of schools that were built in 1864?

Factories are modernized, but we children go to school in buildings of wood construction, with crowded classrooms.

Why not take advantage of the government money now? The government will pay 45 per cent while the taxpayer will only pay 55 per cent of the million-dollar program.

If the bond issue goes through, a new school will be built on Cline avenue near Wood street. Hedges will be repaired and John Simpson will be made into a fireproof building. This will give us fireproof buildings, large, light classrooms and modern basements.

Most people think taxes will be much higher but they will be raised only four-tenths of one per cent on a hundred dollars.

ADDS $1,200 TO CITY'S REVENUE

Many Court Receipts For August Total $1,500, Up $129.

The city's general fund was increased by $1,249.35 today from municipal court receipts for August which totaled $1,535.10, according to the monthly report of collections prepared by Miss Isabel Gertsmeyer, deputy clerk.

This is an increase of $129 over the receipts for the previous month and the largest collection in any one month since February when receipts totaled nearly $2,000.

The city's share was derived from $1,096.45 collected as fines and costs in criminal cases and $152.90 collected as costs in civil cases while $285.75 was distributed to the state, county and law library.

Ever Wonder Why You're Constipated?

Do you ever have days when you just hate to drag yourself along, when you feel tired, sunk—because of that constipation? Then why not find out the real cause of your trouble?

What hate you had to eat lately? Just things like meat bread and potatoes? If that's it you may not have to look any farther. It's likely your trouble is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and aids elimination.

If "bulk" is what you lack, your ticket is a dish of crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. It contains the "bulk" you need plus Nature's great intestinal tonic, vitamin B.

Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and join the "regulars"! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek Team Tips Scales at About Same Weight as '37 Club; Murphy Seeks Speed.

UNLESS THE tentative lineup is altered, Coach Russ Murphy will start a Mansfield high school eleven Saturday at Stadium field against Akron West that will tip the scales at about the same point as the 1937 aggregation.

Ball Toters Heavy.

According to the weight charts, the ball toters will better the team average by a pound, while the line will average approximately 169.

The Tyger leader intimated that it is possible for him to put a heavier ball club on the field, but the extra poundage would merely "slow up what now is already a slow team."

Howard Hershey, Red Lemunyon and Ike Smith are the leading candidates for the lefthalf post, with the latter holding a slight edge because of his experience.

Ed Coettle and Bob Guegold are staging an interesting battle for the right guard position, and it is a toss-up which will be in the starting lineup Saturday.

Regardless of Murphy's selections, the average weight of the team will not be affected. All of the halfbacks weigh around 150 pounds, while both Goettle and Guegold hit the scales at 165.

The heaviest men in the backfield are Dick McMullen and Al Schwaner, who weigh 185 apiece Capt. Rich Nagle tips the Toledos at 170.

While McMullen will be listed as quarterback, Mike Horvath will call the plays Saturday. Murphy has been pleased with the field generalship shown by the terminal tender in workouts.

Lightest Lineman.

Horvath, incidentally, is the lightest lineman to receive a starting bid Saturday. The aggressive end goes around 155, which is 31 pounds lighter than the heaviest lineman, Center Harold Gallagher.

Murphy is devoting most of his time this week to speeding up the play of the team, and unless the squad shows some improvement in this respect Saturday, he indicated lineup changes would result. The Tyger coach is also disappointed in the punting.

The Tygers will complete preparations for the West invasion Friday with a light signal drill.

Grade School Students To Be Tygers' Guests.

Announcement was made by the Mansfield high school athletic council today that all grade school students in the city would be admitted free to the Tygers' opener with Akron West at Stadium field Saturday. The students will view the game from the East stands.

Cleveland Opens Sox Series Today

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—With their final game of the season with the New York Yankees rained out Wednesday the Cleveland Indians today met the Boston Red Sox in a four-game series that will go a long way in determining the second-place finisher in the American league

In addition to the matter of prestige, there is a much more important consideration at stake in cash form. Second place means between $1,000 and $1,200 extra to each player compared with $700 to $800 accruing to the players whose club ends in third

PORTSMOUTH, AKRON RESUME SERIES TONIGHT

AKRON — (AP) — Portsmouth and Akron are scheduled to meet here tonight in a Mid-Atlantic Baseball league playoff game which was postponed last night because of wet grounds. The schedule calls for another game here Friday night and the fourth contest at Portsmouth Saturday night

Madison Host to Sunbury

Ashland, Bellville Scenes of Only Daylight Tilts on First Bill.

SCHOOLBOY football will be ushered in with a host of attractions Friday.

Daylight football is virtually a thing of the past in this vicinity, and only a couple of games in the immediate locality will go on in the afternoon.

Holds Attention Here.

The nocturnal schedule will be heavy in every section with the Madison Rams' opener with Sunbury at Madison field holding Mansfield attention.

All of the N. C. O. conference clubs will pry off their schedule lide under the bulbs except Ashland, which entertains Loudonville in an afternoon affray.

Bucyrus opens at home with Willard, Galion is host to Mt. Gilead, Mt. Vernon tackles Dayton Kizer, Marion engages Upper Sandusky and Shelby goes to Norwalk.

The only afternoon game on the county's schedule Friday will find Bellville visited by Centerburg. Butler was tentatively scheduled to open this week, but the inaugural has been set back

Saturday's only attraction in the vicinity will find the Tygers of Mansfield high taking on Akron West at Stadium field. Crestline goes to Sandusky for a Saturday afternoon tussle with St. Mary's.

There will be considerable interest attached to both Friday afternoon contests. Bellville stacks up as one of Madison's chief rivals in the Mid-State league, and its game with Centerburg should throw some light on its season possibilities.

Ashland should find Loudonville anything but a setup Friday. The Red Birds held the A's to a two-touchdown victory last year, and they stack up tougher than they did then.

Coach John Kerekes has nine lettermen on his Loudonville club, and the team has shown a lot of power in practice, with the attack being built around 182-pound Phil Krause, the fullback.

Loudonville's toughest job will probably be attempting to stop Joe Glass, Ashland's 190-pound fullback.

Prospects Encouraging.

With 10 lettermen returning, Shelby's grid prospects are more enncouraging than in other recent years, and Harold Bliss, now tipping the scales at 101, should make it tough for opponents.

Lettermen returning are Capt. Streby, center; Bechtel, guard, Wilson, tackle; Swank, end, and Gregg, back. According to Coach McKinley, the outstanding prospects are Van Hoten, end; Diehl, tackle; Robinson, and Reed guards, and Eyster, Huff and Coffing, backs.

The Whippets will have no easy time in Norwalk, which also is building up.

Mt. Gilead, weakened by a big graduation, may not be tough enough to topple Galion, but may extend the Orangemen Mt. Vernon and Marion looms as probable victors in their engagements Bucyrus lost heavily through graduation, but Willard was hit even harder.

Crestline, with a team that packs much potential class, is expected to find St. Mary's troublesome, but is likely to open with a triumph.

Goodman Rides Toward Another Golf Title

By PAUL MICKELSON

OAKMONT, Pa.—(AP)—Johnny Goodman looked over the wreckage of rain-drenched Oakmont today and decided he was a lucky guy

The ex-Omaha caddy, now fat, prosperous and 29, came to the national amateur golf championships with his worst season in ten years behind him. His game was sluggish and his hopes of retaining the cup he won at Portland so low that he told his bride to stay home because he didn't expect to stick around very long. Even his brother-in-law, who helps Johnny get fat with the beer he sells, stayed away though he's a hot golf fan.

But as the title race entered the third round today, Johnny was riding high. His game was back with him and his bracket all washed out of sharpshooters who rated a good chance to beat him even in dangerous 18-hole matches. Not since Bobby Jacobson of Deal, N. J., stopped him at Brookline in 1934 has Johnny lost in a short match and it took young Bobby an extra hole to score that one.

Goodman always is a man to beat in this show. All he has to do is to get to it.

He arrived at Oakmont last week his only triumph of the year a victory in the Sioux Falls, S. D. open and he got hot from the very start. He qualified comfortably with 154 and hustled to a pair of 4 and 3 victories yesterday.

The dark horses, still operating behind every tree and bunker today though the field of 163 starters now totaled 16, cleared the way for Johnny in his bracket, the upper. As five of the Walker Cup players, among them Charles Yates, the British amateur champion from Atlanta, fell, the defending champ found seven players in his bracket that he figures he ought to lick nine times out of 10 even if golf is an uncertain game.

They were "Sonny" Fraser, Atlantic City, N. J.; Pat Abbott, a Hollywood extra; Walter Blevins, a night watchman from Kansas City, who were in the top quarter and Dick Chapman, Greenwich, Conn.; Tommy Suffern Tailer, social registerite from New York, and a tall, thin unknown named Jimmy French from San Francisco, his third round foe. French admitted he never had "won anything important."

Today, Tailer tackled Chapman and Blevins met Joe Thompson, a Canadian, who escorted Sandy Somerville, 1932 champ, and young Freddie Haas, jr., of New Orleans, to the side lines. Fraser meets Abbott, who accounted for Ray Billows, Walker Cupper from Poughkeepsie, 2 and 1, in one of the many big upsets.

* * * * *

THE LOWER BRACKET, on form, had all the thunder. In it were Edwin Kingsley, from Magna, Utah, who beat Yates, 2 and 1; Wilfred Crossley of Dedham, Mass., his rival today; Medalist Gus Moreland of Peoria, Ill., who meets Melvin Harbert, virtual unknown from Syracuse, N. Y.; Frank Strafaci of Brooklyn, New York Metropolitan champ; Willie Turnesa of New York and Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, who is favored to meet Goodman in the finals.

Only 10 Heed Lonero's Call For Gridders

ASHLAND — (AP) — Football coaches who look over large if untalented squads with dour faces should listen to the tale of woe of Frank Lonero, starting his first season as Ashland college grid mentor.

Lonero, a quarterback in Ashland's football heyday counted only 10 players on the first day of practice. But the following day things picked up—an even dozen candidates reported.

Even if all the students who said they would turn out do so later, Lonero admitted he could expect only 18 at the most. But those who did show up were put through stiff workouts, for the opener with Heidelberg is scheduled here Sept. 23.

The college might abandon football for this year or withdraw from the Ohio conference to circumvent a ruling that member teams cannot play freshmen.

Bitsy Grant Upsets Quist

NEW YORK—(INS)—The comeback of bustling Bitsy Grant, of Atlanta, was the talk of the national tennis tournament today.

Grant's 6-1, 4-6, 6-1, 7-5 victory over Australia's Adrian Quist, coming 24 hours after Gil Hunt upset America's Bobby Riggs, must give the selection bodies of both challenge-round nations slight pause.

Don Budge continued to defend his crown, eliminating Charles E Hare, England, 6-3, 6-4, 6-0. Alice Marble, a favorite from California, beat Miss Dorothy Stevenson, Australia, 6-1, 6-4, and tomorrow will oppose Miss Kay Stammers, England's ace who trounced Barbara Winslow of California, 6-0, 6-2.

UNIT NO. 5 REACHES WPA FINALS ON FORFEIT

Unit No. 5 reached the finals in the WPA softball league playoff yesterday when it was awarded a forfeit by No. 2. No. 5 will meet the winner of 1-3 game scheduled at the Armory today The finals are scheduled to start Friday.

Semi-Pros Cancel Inaugural Sign Beeber, Miller to Coach

ANNOUNCEMENT was made today by Johnny Villella, appointed business manager of the Mansfield semi-pro football team yesterday, that Sunday's scheduled opener with the Akron Shamrocks has been cancelled

Villella said that cancellation was necessary to permit the semi-pro club more time to prepare for the season.

The Shamrocks will probably be signed for a later game, Villella stated, but the opener a week from Sunday will be against another eleven.

Villella also announced a change in the coaching staff today. Rabbit Siler, named head coach several weeks ago, asked to be relieved of the duties as he figured they would interfere with his playing.

Frank Beeber and Gip Miller, widely known in semi-pro football circles, have been obtained to handle the coaching duties.

Ticket Sale Ends Saturday

Season Books May Be Purchased at Stadium Field.

The sale of season football tickets for the Mansfield high school games has been extended until Saturday, according to an announcement made today by George Sherman, treasurer of the athletic council.

Original plans were to conclude the sale of the books yesterday, but it was decided to give the fans until Saturday to purchase the tickets. The books will be on sale at the box office at Stadium field when the Tygers open their season with Akron West.

Sherman has no definite check on the number of tickets already sold, but indicated that the sale was satisfactory. The season book price is $2. Season tickets may be purchased down town at the Tawse pharmacy, Rogers jewelry and Elks lodge.

Youngstown College Opens Season Tonight.

YOUNGSTOWN—(INS)— The national collegiate football season will open here tonight as Youngstown college plays the first game in its history, with Geneva college furnishing the opposition.

Although it is the school's first venture into intercollegiate football, an exceedingly tough schedule, including Western Reserve, has been set up.

Deflate Pennant Bubble

By SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer.

THEY put a blowout patch on the Pittsburgh Pirates' pennant bubble today and tried to get it to take off again in what is hilariously referred to these days at the National league "race."

Those forgotten New York Giants, featuring a patched-up infield and a pitching staff relying on sore wings, all but blew the bubble to bits yesterday by taking both ends of a doubleheader from the "choked up" Pirates.

Cubs Near Bucs.

Thus they continued the happy custom of never allowing a dull moment in this daffy senior circuit chase, for the Chicago Cubs, by whipping Boston's Bees, climbed to within 2½ games of the top, and the Giants moved to a third-place tie with Cincinnati's Reds, who split a twin bill with Brooklyn.

Terrible Bill Terry gave up the flag three weeks ago and then took up his option on a prerogative usually reserved for the fair sex, changing his mind and cutting the Giants back in.

The race looks something like this:

Pittsburgh	77	56	.579	...	21
Chicago	76	60	.559	2½	18
Cincinnati	75	61	.551	3½	18
New York	75	61	.551	3½	18

Of course, the Pirates still are the boys to beat, but they can't stay up there if they go through many more days like yesterday. Prince Hal Schumacher, sore arm and all, "sinker-balled" them to death, 3-0, in the first game. In the nightcap, the Giants just sent a seven-run blast over in the second inning and coasted in at 10-3.

A homer by Gabby Hartnett with the bases loaded gave the Cubs a 6-3 margin over the Bees, but the Bostons disputed the hit as being just a foul ball and finished the game under protest.

Ernie Lombardi lashed two four-baggers and the Reds dropped the Dodgers, 8-4, in a double-header nightcap after the Brooklyns won the opener, 6-2. Ducky Medwick hit a pair of round-trippers as the Cardinals crushed the Phillies, 12 to 9 and 3 to 2.

Tribe Rained Out.

The American league race saw the Yankees' final game of the year with Cleveland rained out, but the Yanks, nevertheless, advanced to a spot where they need only four wins to clinch the pennant. Boston's second-place Red Sox belted the Tigers, 9-2, behind Joe Heving.

MART TRADING HALTS AFTER OPENING RALLY

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The tumult of trading in the war-excited stock market died away today, after a soaring rally at the opening, as speculations took a breathing spell to await developments in the Chamberlain-Hitler talk.

On both sides of the Atlantic quotation boards recorded a revival of hope for maintenance of peace. Wheat, a war-prized commodity, fell back as stocks and bonds rebounded to recover part of their sharp losses this week. In several commodities, speculation for the rise on war possibilities again lifted prices moderately.

In the opening rush to cover short positions and get aboard for a rally, gains of 1 to around 4 points were rung up for such shares as United States Steel, General Motors, American Telephone, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber, Westinghouse and Bethlehem Steel—all of which had fallen steeply in the selling waves. Some of these yielded about half the advances by midday.

American stocks were up sharply in London before dealings began here and the brighter feeling spread to Amsterdam and Paris markets. The London price of gold, one of the most eloquent gauges of the ebb and rise of uneasiness in money quarters in recent weeks, had a wide fall.

Within one week from today every piano, every piece of used furniture, every used radio must be sold.
We are positively closing out every piece of merchandise in our Used Department, located at our Main Street store No. 56 Main St. (Upstairs over Crowe's Store) as we are discontinuing this store.
If you can use a good upright piano, there are more than 35 to choose from which Must Be Sold regardless of price. Your cash $15.00 — $25.00 — $35.00 will buy you a piano easily worth four times that money. Our loss is your gain, as every one Must Be Sold.
Salespersons will be at this store every day opening at 9 A. M. and closing at 5:30 P. M. until everything is sold, so come early and get your choice.
P. S. Note well: This closeout sale does not in any way effect our main retail store located at 146 Park Ave. W. as we are Not Selling Out or Quitting Business, but will discontinue our "used department."

PAM—A New One! By A. W. Brewerton

A MESSENGER BOY HAS JUST BROUGHT PAM A NOTE
NO'M, I COULDN'T TELL YOU WHO SENT IT — IT CAME OVER FROM THE MAIN OFFICE TO THE SUB-STATION WHERE I WORK
OH, I SEE, WELL THERE'S NO ANSWER, THANK YOU
9-15
WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT THAT? — TWO MATINEE TICKETS FOR SATURDAY TO "THE MAID AND THE MAN"! THE LATEST HIT! — I'M CRAZY TO SEE THAT SHOW!
AND ALL THE NOTE SAYS, IS — "HOPE YOU MAY CARE TO USE THESE — THEY SAY IT'S A GOOD SHOW — FROM ONE WHOSE GREATEST DESIRE IS YOUR HAPPINESS!"
HUH! WELL, I'M NOT GOING TO USE THEM, CRAZY AS I AM TO SEE THE PLAY — NOT WHEN I DON'T KNOW WHO SENT 'EM! — AND I'M NOT GOING TO ACCEPT ANY MORE FLOWERS — OR ANYTHING ELSE EITHER!
IS PAM RIGHT? WHO CAN THIS "PHANTOM LOVER" BE?

JUDGE PUFFLE By Gene Ahern

YES, LADS,—— I TURNED OVER TO MRS PUFFLE THE DEED TO MY PROPERTY AND SHE IS NOW SOLE OWNER OF THE MOUNTAIN AND ALL THE OIL IT WILL PRODUCE——ALSO ITS MANY OTHER MINERAL DEPOSITS!—— I FEEL SHE HAS BETTER BUSINESS ABILITY TO OPERATE THE OIL WELL——WHILE I AM BEST SUITED TO THE LABORATORY WITH MY SCIENTIFIC EXPERIMENTS AND INVENTIONS!—— YAS——
AW, DON'T GIVE US ANY OF THAT! — YOU SHOWED US A PHOTO OF THE MOUNTAIN AND ALL MRS PUFFLE CAN GET OUT OF IT IS A HARD CLIMB AND A VIEW!
YEH,—— AND YOU KNOW THERE ISN'T ANYMORE OIL IN IT THAN THERE IS IN A SPONGE!
WE FEAR, JUDGE, YOU'LL REGRET THE TRANSFER—

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—"Through My Window—Window." By Harold Gray

EH? WHAT'S TH' BIG IDEA, CANDY? YUH WOKE ME UP — IT MUST BE AWFUL LATE —
9-15
GEE — IT'S NEARLY ONE A.M. — WHY DON'TCHA GO BACK TO SLEEP?
S'POSIN' YUH DID HEAR AN OWL — OR MAYBE A BAT WENT BY — YOU'RE NO PUP ANY MORE — C'MON — FORGET IT AN' GO BACK TO SLEEP! CAN'TCHA — HM-M-M — WHAT DO YUH THINK YUH SEE, ANYWAY —?
LEAPIN' LIZARDS! IT'S — IT'S ACE CHANCE — COMIN' OUT O' TH' OLD APPLE ORCHARD!

THE NEBBS—The Wrong Letter. By Sol Hess

WON'T YOU RUN THROUGH THOSE LETTERS AGAIN — THERE MUST BE A LETTER FOR ME!
OH, YES, HERE'S ONE — SORRY I MISSED IT
I DON'T THINK YOU COULD PUT THAT MUCH MISERY IN A COW'S FACE AND IT'S TWICE AS LONG AS HIS

Chuckle Corner

The new trend in fashion calls for women to be feminine. Suppose they're trying to get back the seats in the street cars?

A burglar in South Gate, Cal., sent back $100 of the $120 he had taken from a housewife. Probably a tax dodger.

A Chicagoan who crashed a traffic light got a minimum fine when he blamed his hay fever. It sounds like a bad precedent. A traffic light is not something to be sneezed at.

"HEADS"
for pick-up in traffic!

"TAILS"
for mileage on the open road!

SOHIO X-70 gives you BOTH
"HEADS" in gasoline, according to refining engineers, are the quick-firing parts you need for fast pick-up in today's congested traffic.
"TAILS" are the powerful parts you need for long mileage on the open road.
Standard Oil's Triple-Distillation Process increases the amount of fast-acting "Heads" in SOHIO X-70 without sacrificing the long-mileage "Tails" that save you money. That's why you can enjoy the thrilling performance of SOHIO X-70, and still reap the benefits of motoring economy.
Over half a million Ohio motorists use SOHIO X-70 regularly. If you're not already one of them, try X-70. You'll get both "Heads" and "Tails"... both pick-up and mileage ... you'll win every time!

TRIPLE-DISTILLED—to give you "HEADS" for fast pick-up ... "TAILS" for long mileage!

GETS ADVANCE

Shelby Schools Allowed $12,000 In Real Estate Revenue.

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe today had authorized the distribution of $12,000 to the Shelby board of education as an advance against the settlement of real estate taxes collected in the recent collection period.

Most of the funds due Mansfield and Shelby schools in the settlement have been consumed in advances, Deputy Auditor Arthur Beck said. The regular settlement will be made to the county's subdivision within the next month.

BUCYRUS—Announcement was made Tuesday of the marriage in Danville, Ky., Sept. 3 of Mrs. Elizabeth Nickum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Schooley and Edward Norris of Mt. Vernon, formerly of Bucyrus. The couple will live in Mt. Vernon.

SEEDS WON'T SPOIL IN YEARS

Certain Types Will Keep For 10 Years, Survey Shows.

FORT COLLINS, Colo.—(AP)—Experiments at Colorado State College have disclosed certain seeds may be stored for years without harming their ability to germinate.

Wheat, oats and barley were stored for 10 years and no material loss in germination ability was noted. There was a sharp break between the tenth and twelfth years.

The germination of black amber sorghum was greater after 10 years than the year after harvest. Yellow dent corn can be stored safely for at least six years.

CHAMBERLAIN AND HITLER MEET

City Housing Authority Approved

SEE $2,000,000 PROJECT

Temporary Committee Looks for Erection of 500 Low Cost Homes.

The establishment of a Metropolitan Housing Authority in Mansfield to conduct a slum clearance program had been approved today by the state housing board.

The approval was granted at a public hearing conducted at Columbus yesterday at which city and county officials and Mansfield business men were present.

Mayor Pushes Plan.

Hastening to get the project under way, Mayor Claude M. Hunter today called for a meeting of the county appointing authority which will be held either tomorrow or Saturday.

Members of the appointing committee are Hunter, Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston, Probate Judge C. J. Anderson and County Commissioners C. L. Mitchell, Ray Hout and Guy Stewart. Hunter will appoint two, while the others will select one each to make up the five-man board.

Double Original Proposal.

Originally proposed as a $1,000,000 low cost housing program, the plan now call for a $2,000,000 project, decided on by the committee after it had been suggested by the state housing board.

Such a program would call for the erection of approximately 500 model homes with a maximum monthly rental of $5 per room.

The delegation heard by the state board at the hearing was led by Mayor Hunter who reviewed the needs of the slum clearance program here and the need for the erection of the low cost housing units.

Others to address the board were George C. Kyle, chairman of the temporary committee; C. W. Conklin, secretary of the group; E. B. Kallmerten, Judge C. H. Huston, Ray Hout, Lester Reading and Paul Williams, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

Williams said that low cost housing has been one of Mansfield's most serious problem for years and that the need for the units was "just as bad if not worse" than larger cities who have already taken advantage of the plan.

The low cost housing program is financed by the federal government which has already allocated $65,000,000 to Ohio for this purpose.

Registration for Bond Issue Closes, New Record Seen.

The registration period for the special school bond election next Tuesday closed last night with the names of hundreds of new voters added to the city registration lists.

The board of elections office was swamped throughout the day with registrations and transfers as residents sought the right to vote at the special election.

Figures will not be available until tomorrow or Saturday, but A. F. Porter, board clerk, said a new registration record was expected.

Meanwhile, persons who will be out of the city Tuesday or unable to go to the polls may vote an absent ballot until midnight Saturday, Porter said. Mail applications for ballots must be in the elections office before noon Saturday.

Thirteen Arguments for the School Bonds

Pupils From Every District Call For 'Yes' Vote.

By EDWARD FISHER
Eighth Grade, Hedges Jr. High.

September and back to school again. Yes, back to school but what a school! Some of my classes are held in the old fire trap of a building at Hedges that was built in 1870, a building that is supposed to represent the schools of 1938, but to see it you would think that you were living back in the gay 90's that I have read about. But it isn't gay for us kids who have to go there.

If I want to go to the toilet I don't go to what the people of 1938 would call a toilet. Instead I go to an old 1870 dilapidated toilet bowl with a cracked wooden circle for a seat.

On my way back to the first floor, I go up a stairway of worn, weak and ready-to-fall-apart lumber. It could trap any number of children if there was a fire and burn them to death. It makes me nervous when I think I might be one of them.

Have to Rent Floor.

What do we kids do for recreation? Mostly basketball but the school has to rent the "Y" or Salvation Army's basketball floor and in turn charge the others a dime to see us kids play. The money pays for the rent of the floor. Our new school would have a gymnasium so that all my school mates could enjoy regularly organized sports classes.

The new school would have an auditorium in which we could have our plays and concerts and we would have the advantages of a school assembly.

When I go to the library, I go to a small unlighted corner of the second floor. An hour's time of reading there will certainly weaken my eyes.

I belong to the band and orchestra and I know what trouble it is to have a rehearsal. Everything has to be cleared out of one small room and the chairs and music stands put up. This takes ten minutes and then the same operation has to be performed after rehearsal, leaving only about 30 minutes of actual playing.

Among the most important things the proposed new schools will have are indirect lighting, an auditorium, gymnasium, music rooms, cafeteria, well equipped shop and home economics rooms. There won't be any more fire trap stairways or unsanitary rest rooms.

Too Far?

Some mothers complain of the distance to the proposed new school in the south and yet their kids will walk all of the way to the Liberty Park swimming pool. With school buildings like the proposed no child would hate to go to school or worry about walking a few extra blocks to get there. Gee, I'd be glad to walk two miles to a school like the ones they want to build for us.

Why can't the junior high boys and girls in Mansfield have the same advantages for an education as the boys and girls in our neighboring cities? Come on parents, give us kids a break.

By MARY ROADPOUCH
Sixth Grade, Bowman School.

If the citizens of Mansfield will pass the bond issue on Tuesday, Sept. 20, 1938 all the children of Mansfield will prosper.

The bond issue is to build a new junior high school on Cline avenue, rebuild the old junior high, and provide all elementary school except Western and Woodland with new toilet facilities.

There is to be a special election on Sept. 20, 1938. If the $550,000 bond issue passes, the government will give us $450,000 if we start work before Jan. 1, 1939. As a result of its passing, 250 men will be put to work.

Twenty-one of Mansfield's leading organizations have approved the bond issue.

Mansfield has built the least new schools in Ohio since 1900. There have been only 3 new schools built since 1900.

Give us kiddies a break.

By GEORGE MOGA
Sixth Grade, Newman School.

How much fun it is to move into a new house! Everything is so bright, so shiny, so light, so clean that it makes you feel as if you really want to work.

My daddy and mother are going to vote for the school bond issue so that I may move into a new school building next fall.

If all our mothers and fathers will vote for it, all of us sixth graders of Newman will be able to go to a new building next fall.

The new building will have plenty of windows that will give us plenty of light, and we can save electric bills and eyesight both at the same time.

In the new school we will have enough room for our books so we don't have to bother the class getting them out of someone else's desk.

Our sixth grade is learning to act out plays. By next year we will show how to give long plays. It will be fun to give them in a new auditorium. Will you come to hear our plays and musicales in the new building?

When we get the new buildings, the Newman school will get new toilets. My fifth grade friends will be glad of that. Even if we were only getting new toilets, it would be worth the dollar or so a year that my daddy and mother will have to pay.

In the summer I go to a show about every week. It costs me ten cents each time. I could earn the whole dollar myself that the new buildings will cost my daddy and mother by staying home from ten shows. I wouldn't mind staying home from shows ten Sunday afternoons if I could go to a brand new school building for three years, would you?

By RALPH JOHNS
Sixth Grade, Bushnell School.

Do you have any children in school? If you do, I'm sure that you know the condition that most of the schools are in, and will be sure to vote for the school bond issue next Tuesday, Sept. 20. If the school bond issue doesn't pass on this date the money will be given to another city, and Mansfield will be the loser.

Here are just a few of the reasons why we need new junior high schools. First: some of the schools have bad lighting because of few windows and have to use artificial lighting most of the time. The lighting fixtures are also out of date and do not provide good light for study. Second: most of the stairs are of wood and if a fire would start on one of the floors it would quickly work its way to the stairs causing them to collapse, trapping the children above. Third: parts of John Simpson have been condemned for years as unsafe. Fourth: the toilets are run down and are of the old-fashioned kind and need to be replaced very badly.

WHAT CITY'S PUPILS THINK

Herewith The News-Journal presents 13 sincere arguments for passage of the $550,000 school bond issue at the special election next Tuesday.

They are 13 essays—one written by a pupil in each of the city's 13 schools. They are the expressions of the pupils themselves—and no one else. The News-Journal presents them as it received them.

GEORGE, FOE OF NEW DEAL, WINS

(By United Press)

ATLANTA, Ga.—Lawrence Camp, President Roosevelt's senatorial candidate in Georgia, conceded defeat today as he lagged hopelessly in returns from yesterday's primary in which New Deal adherence was the only issue.

Sen. Walter F. George, the incumbent, whom Mr. Roosevelt repudiated to his face on a speaking platform, was piling up a lead over the third candidate, former Governor Eugene Talmadge.

Nomination, equivalent to election, is decided on a county unit vote plan. Counties have from two to six units each—a total of 159 counties and 410 units—and Camp had carried only four counties; 18 units.

Complete reports from 108 counties gave George 178 units from 61 counties; Talmadge 104 units from 43 counties. At that time George was leading in counties that contained a total unit vote of 216, and Talmadge was ahead in counties with 166 units. Should those leads continue, George would have a majority and would be nom-

School Principal Knows Now That It's a Plumber's Job.

LEBANON,—(AP)—Principal J. C. Vian of the Lebanon high school told his wife not to bother calling the plumber—he would fix the clogged drain himself.

He inserted a wire. It stuck. He removed the drain pipe cap and inserted his finger. The finger stuck, too.

An hour later a plumber released him. Then the plumber fixed the drain pipe.

RELIEF PUZZLE STILL UNSOLVED

Officials Continue 'in Dark' on Source of Funds; Fail to See State Auditor.

City, county and township officials were still "in the dark" today in their attempts to find a source for relief, although they were considering a number of possibilities opened by recently enacted state relief laws.

In Columbus yesterday to attend a federal housing hearing on a proposed slum clearance project for Mansfield, a delegation of city and county officials, were unable to look into the relief situation, C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of county commissioners, said.

While a new state law has opened the way for borrowing against anticipated collections of sales tax funds and delinquent real estate taxes, officials said they must obtain information from the state auditor concerning the procedure in seeking the loans.

BULLETIN

BERLIN —(INS)— The official German news agency reported tonight that Czechoslovakia has "ordered mobilization." The report was not immediately confirmed by any other source.

(By Associated Press)

PRAGUE—Sudeten Leader Konrad Henlein issued a proclamation today demanding annexation of the Sudeten German regions of Czechoslovakia by Germany.

How To Pronounce Those Tongue-twisters

Pronounciation key for places and people in the Czechoslovakian crisis:

Czechs—(Checks).
Sudeten — (Soo-debt-en, accent on second syllable).
Asch—(A, like in ask).
Eger—(Ager, A like in ache).
Prague—(Prahg).
President Eduard Benes — (Ayd-vart Benesh).
Premier Milan Hodza — (Mee-lan Hodzha).
Konrad Henlein — (Konrat Henline).

The proclamation, which was addressed to Sudeten Germans and Germans in the reich, declared "it is definitely impossible for Sudeten Germans and Czechs to live in the same state."

"The Sudeten Germans want to return to our home in the reich," it said.

It assailed methods used by the Czechoslovak government in efforts to crush disorders which have caused at least 23 deaths in

CRACKS RECORD

Cobb Zooms Over Salt Flats at 350.2 Miles Per Hour.

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah — (AP) — Wealthy John R. Cobb of London captured the world's automobile speed throne today with a mark of 350.2 miles per hour.

The doughty fur broker smashed the record of 345.49 miles per hour established here Aug. 27 by Capt. George E. T. Eyston, retired British army officer.

Cobb, a new man at high speed racing, flashed through the measured mile at 353.29 going north and 347.16 on the southward run.

Eyston's average for the north run was 347.49 and for the south 343.51.

War or Peace?

MUNICH—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Britain arrived by air from London and proceeded by special train to Berchtesgaden for his man-to-man talk with Reichsfueher Adolf Hitler.

EGER—The Sudeten German Party issued a proclamation demanding nothing less than outright union with the Nazi Reich.

PRAGUE—Renewed fighting occurred in Sudetenland as Sudeten leaders exhorted their followers to defend themselves from "murder." Reports were current Viscount Runciman, British Mediator, planned a first-hand tour of the disordered region.

BERLIN—German officialdom expressed belief that a single hour of "honest discussion" between Chamberlain and Hitler would suffice to solve the crisis.

LONDON — Chamberlain's wife led prayers for peace at Westminster Abbey.

BERLIN—(INS)—The Sudeten crisis moved into a new and acute stage today when a general strike was proclaimed throughout the Sudeten area. The action was taken shortly after Konrad Henlein, Sudeten leader, issued a proclamation stating he and his followers demanded nothing less than outright union with Nazi Germany.

ROME—(AP)—Italian assurance was given today that Adolf Hitler would not take the Czech population of Czechoslovakia even as "a gift." This was interpreted as an indirect offer of Germany to guarantee the Czechs integrity of their new frontier if they give up the Sudeten areas to the reich.

PRAGUE—(U.P.)—The Czechoslovakian government today proclaimed martial law in five more districts of the Sudeten area. This brings the total to 16 districts in which martial law has been proclaimed.

BERLIN—(AP)—DNB, the official German news agency, reported today in a dispatch from Neugersdorf, Saxony, near the Czechoslovakia border, that war preparations in northern Czechoslovakia were alarmingly on the increase. The population of the northern regions, DNB declared, was in a panic.

BUDAPEST, Hungary—(U.P.)—Large contengents of Hungarian troops were moving toward the borders, it was said at a reliable source today. The Hungarian press made sharp demands for a plebiscite among the Hungarian minority in Czechoslovakia.

HELSINGFORS, Finland — (INS—The newspaper Uusi Suomi, organ of the national coalition party of Finland, reported today that 750,000 Soviet troops and 2,000 warplanes are concentrated in the Soviet Union's vast Ukraine district.

'Heils' Greet Minister as Train Arrives; Starts for Villa Immediately.

WANTS 'CLEAR PICTURE'

Europe Sees Peace or War at Stake in Momentous Parley at Fuehrer's Retreat.

(By United Press)

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany—The head of the British government came to these Bavarian hills today and joined the fuehrer of greater Germany in face-to-face talks which may change the course of world history.

In a sense, peace or war lay in the hands of Neville Chamberlain and Adolf Hitler.

Chamberlain's party arrived by train from Munich, after a 600-mile flight there from London, at 4:10 p. m. (10:10 a. m. EST).

Chamberlain was greeted with "Heils" and Nazi salutes by a crowd of 400 to 500, dressed in Bavarian costumes.

He was smiling as he emerged bareheaded from the station. After a sunshiny morning, a cold drizzle was falling.

There for 'Showdown.'

Ordinary diplomatic machinery having failed, Chamberlain came for a showdown.

He brought the ultimate Britain and France has to offer to satisfy Germany's demand for self determination for the Sudeten German minority in Czechoslovakia.

He sought in return an unequivocal statement of the minimum concessions which Hitler will accept, and a clear outline of his future aims.

The conference may have one of several outcomes.

1. Hitler and Chamberlain may agree on a program. If Czechoslovakia accepts it, the crisis is over, at least for the time being.

2. If Czechoslovakia refuses to accept any program which may be decided on, the crisis is worse than before, and the threat of armed intervention by Germany, with resultant war, is renewed.

3. If Hitler and Chamberlain

SHUT BY STRIKE

Plymouth Factory Closed; 7,000 Out of Work.

DETROIT—(U.P.)—The Plymouth plant of Chrysler corporation, employing 7,000 men, was forced to shut down production on 1939 models today as a result of a strike at the Briggs Mack Avenue body plant.

The Plymouth plant closed at 10:45 o'clock, its activities paralyzed by lack of bodies produced at Briggs. Officials of Chrysler said that additional plants would be shut down tomorrow unless Briggs re-opens. Briggs supplies Chrysler bodies.

UAW officials said the Briggs strike was called when the company persisted in using a production speed-up and fired two men —one of them a shop steward— for objecting to the increased rate.

You Want To Buy a License, Do You? Well, You Just Can't

About 20,000 of the new 1938-39 drivers' licenses were scheduled to go on sale this morning at the Richland County Automobile club office, but they didn't — because there were no licenses to sell.

Frank Beverstock, deputy registrar, said supplies, including the licenses and application blanks, had not arrived at the office today and were not expected before tomorrow morning.

They will be put on sale as soon as they are received. The deadline for driving with present licenses is Oct. 1. As in the past a license will cost 40 cents with chauffeur's license 90 cents.

Applicants will be required to swear that the information on the application is true to his best knowledge and belief, Beverstock said. He added that applicants under 21 years of age must be accompanied by their father and if he is not living, their mother.

The auto club is the only place in the county where a chauffeur's license can be obtained.

Special office hours have been set up at the club for the remaining two weeks of the month to handle license sales. Tomorrow and Saturday the office will be open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Next week the hours will be 8 a. m. to 8 p. m., Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, and 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., Tuesday and Thursday. During the week of Sept. 26 the office will be open every day from 8 a. m. until 8 p. m.

REICH MUSEUM MIRRORS FAME OF ZEPPELINS

Friedrichshaven Airport Now Houses Permanent Records After 7 Years.

(By United Press)

FRIEDRICHSHAVEN — The only Zeppelin museum in the world has been opened here, bringing a 7-year-old idea to fruition. This idea was carried out provisionally and incompletely previously by the bringing together of various exhibits related to the subject in the Administration building of the airport. The museum now occupies buldings expressly designed to house it. The architecture adds to the dignity of the achievements in lighter-than-air transportation.

The main entrance leads into a Hall of Honor which is dedicated to the inventor of the airship that bears his name, Count Zeppelin. Tall arched windows, rugged granite and polished marble give this hall the subdued, majestic air of a sanctuary. In it stands a heroic sized statue of a general of cavalry. On both sides are the coats of arms of the cities of Constance, the county's birthplace, and of Friedrichshaven, the scene of his greatest labors and triumph.

Important Dates Marked.

Bronze tablets on the walls commemorate the most important dates in the history of Zeppelin transportation. On the ceiling is a fresco, the treatment taken from an 18th century Dutch master, depictng the Northern Hemisphere. On this great chart are traced the routes followed by various Zeppelins on their epoch making distance flights.

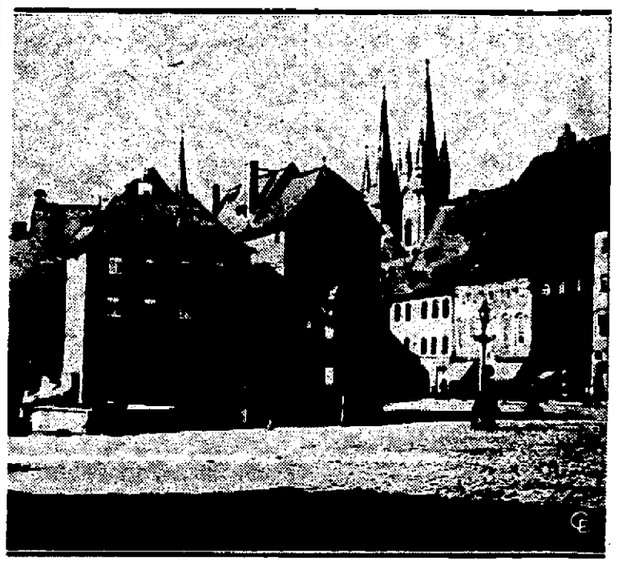
In a 50-yard long exhibition chamber leading off from the Hall of Honor, the 37 years of Zeppelin history is portrayed in a series of skilfully executed and clearly understandable presentations. There are models and pictures of airships from their beginnings to the LZ 130, the 119th in the lineage, now under construction.

The observer can trace the modifications in the design through the 25 Zeppelins constructed before the World war and the 88 built for the German army and navy during the war. There can be seen the development that increased the gas content of dirigibles from 11,000 to 200,000 cubic meters and produced a ship, the Graf Zeppelin, which flew more than 600,000 miles before being retired from active service.

Skeleton Work Shown.

There also are technical displays which give the visitor practical ideas of the principles followed in the construction of a Zeppelin. In a miniature air tunnel can be seen the application of aerodynamic experiments in shaping of the hull. Electrically driven models show the operation of the motors and the control mechanism. Step by step is unfolded the construction of a Zeppelin—the assembling of the giant rings, the fitting of parts and the covering of the gigantic body. There also is an exact reproduction of an airship hangar.

Czech Powder Keg's Spark?



Here is a view of Eger, Czechoslovakia, in northern Bohemia, near where Czech troops and Sudeten Germans yesterday engaged in a battle viewed as a potential "powder keg" which would set off a general war in Europe. Eger is one of several towns under martial law and is headquarters for Konrad Henlein, Sudeten leader.

TURNS SAND TO GLASS

TAMPA, Fla.,—(U.P.)—Lightning as a glass-maker was exhibited here during a thunderstorm. A bolt of lightning struck a tree, ran down the tree and jumped from the tree roots to an underground telephone cable. Along the underground path the heat fused sand into an irregular tube of glass.

THEATER

ACCORDING to reports, Errol Flynn's new contract is an actor's dream come true. Forty-five hundred dollars a week for 52 weeks, and three months' vacation out of every 12, all at one time. . . . Lewis Stone, who plays Judge Hardy in the Hardy family screen series, receives more than 100 letters a week from fans seeking legal advice. . . . George Brent will take a test soon in an effort to regain his pilot's license. It lapsed because picture work has kept him so busy he hasn't been able to get the proper number of hours in the air.

James Ellison Plays Lead.

Fresh from his recent success in Ginger Roger's "Vivacious Lady," James Ellison has the top male role in "Mother Carey's Chickens," playing at the Ohio. Ellison shares leading honors with Anne Shirley and Ruby Keeler and is cast as a school teacher with whom both girls fall in love. The film was adapted from the famous novel by Kate Douglas Wiggin. Fay Bainter, Ralph Morgan, Walter Brennan and Donnie Dunagan fill other important roles.

Oakie vs. Lucille Ball.

Jack Oakie and Lucille Ball comprise Hollywood's newest mirth-making team in "The Affairs of Annabel," the Madison feature. Miss Ball is cast as a temperamental screen star and Oakie plays a film publicity man. Oakie's wild ideas lead to hectic excitement, get Miss Ball imprisoned, capture two kidnapers and bring fame to his actress-charge. Bradley Page, Ruth Donnelly and Thurston Hall support the two stars.

"Army Girl."

Madge Evans and Preston Foster head the cast of "Army Girl," one of the features opening at 7:30 p. m. today at the new Park theater. The story is laid in an army post situated near the United States-Mexican border and is based on a story by Charles Clifford. Anne Nagel and Grant Richards in "Under the Big Top," completes the double feature program.

"Outlaw Express."

Bob Baker, the crooning cowboy, comes to the screen of the Ritz theater Friday in "Outlaw Express." The story revolves around the adventures of a postal inspector who tries to put an end to the bands of desperadoes who are robbing and slaying the pony express riders, engaged in carrying the mail from Missouri to the Pacific. Others in the cast are Cecilia Callejo, Don Barclay and Leroy Mason. "Condemned Women," with Sally Eilers and Louis Hayward, is the second feature.

HALLABRIN GETS CONTRACT FOR FIRE STATION

City Lets Job on Second Low Bid of $6,353 After Low Offer Is Held Illegal.

The contract for the general construction of a new No. 2 fire station was awarded to Martin Hallabrin, Mansfield contractor, on his second low bid of $6,353 today following the rejection by the board of control of a bid submitted by S B. White which had not been signed.

Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist said the board acted after City Solicitor Marion D Ward held the unsigned bid illegal. White's bid was $6,301

Other Contracts Awarded.

Contracts for the plumbing, heating and electrical work were all awarded to the lowest bidders, Nist announced. The plumbing contract went to E F. Malone on a bid of $578, the heating to Malone on a bid of $542, and the electrical work to Hallabrin whose price was $259 67.

He explained that the total amount of the bids was $7 732,67 or approximately $268 lower than the city engineer's estimate of $8,000. The combination bid was $67 more than would have been expended if the contract would have been let to White

The other two bidders on the general construction were the Zediker Masonry company which bid $6 512 and J. W Ness, $6,600

CO-ED IDENTIFIES HER ASSAILANT

Suspect Held After Man Assaults Girl, Companion In Car.

RUSTON, La.—(AP)—A suspect was held today after Sheriff Bryan Thigpen said a Louisiana Tech co-ed identified him as the man who attacked her twice and fractured the skull of her escort, J. W. Breedlove, 29

The sheriff said he took the suspect, listed as Morris Elmore, colored, to the Monroe jail "due to the intense feeling aroused in Ruston".

The girl told him, the sheriff said, that a man leaped on the couple's parked car near here, beat Breedlove unconscious, and then forced her to go with him to a nearby woods.

SHUT OFF WATER

City Employes To Make Repairs In Sturges, Lexington Vicinity.

James Herlihy, superintendent of the waterworks, announced today that the water supply in the vicinity of Lexington and Sturges avenues will be shut off for four hours tomorrow.

Herlihy said the supply would be turned off at 7 a. m. while workmen install two new gate valves in connection with the new main being laid on Lexington avenue which is a part of the $75,000 Woodland water improvement.

SETS UP FLOOD DISTRICT FUNDS

Court Approves Appropriation of $3,100 for Operation of Mansfield Board.

An appropriation of $3,100 for operation of the Mansfield Conservancy district and collection of conservancy taxes next year had been approved today by Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston.

The conservancy tax rate, which applies only to Mansfield and a part of Madison township, was set at 6 of a mill, a reduction of .2 of a mill from last year

The major part of the expense appropriation, or $2,500, will be used to pay clerks' salaries and telephone bills and to purchase office supplies, the conservancy board's application said The other $600 will be used for rent.

On recommendation of County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe and Treasurer John E. Kolb, the court reappointed R. K. Erdenberger as deputy treasurer in charge of conservancy tax collections, and Geraldine Culler as office clerk.

The $165,000 conservancy bond issue which was to have provided a flood control project that never materialized, is scheduled to be paid up in 1942, Deputy Auditor Arthur S Beck said About $16,500 in bonds will be retired this year, leaving approximately $90,000 to be paid, he added

The board's report showed expenditures last year amounting to $2,307, with $2,800 in cash on hand at the close of the year. The total balance amounted to $97,362.

ARMY OFFICER GETS LIFE TERM

Jury Convicts Him In Insurance Killing Of His Wife.

COLUMBUS, Ga. —(INS)— Maj John R. Brooke, well-known Fort Benning army officer, today faced a term of life imprisonment for the slaying of his wife, Elizabeth.

The 49-year-old defendant was found guilty by a jury in federal court and sentenced immediately as he stood stiffly at attention but with tears in his eyes

Mrs. Brooks, a former army nurse whom he married in 1914, was found with her head crushed in their home at the fort on June 8.

The state charged he had murdered her to get the proceeds from a $6,000 insurance policy

POPE PRAISES CHAMBERLAIN'S PEACE MISSION TO GERMANY

(By International News Service)

VATICAN CITY — Pope Pius, speaking through the Osservatore Romano, today hailed Prime Minister Chamberlain's mission to Hitler as a "wise and generous move," with war the alternative of failure

The pope himself, commenting on Chamberlain's trip to Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, remarked:

"His gesture places him among the greats of humanity."

"On all sides there must be the virtue and strength to renounce force," said Osservatore, the official organ of the Vatican..

"Public opinion asks itself if it is reasonable that for the benefit of 3,500,000 men (the Sudeten Germans), the lives of millions of others should be sacrificed.

"A general conflict would mean absolute injustice Even if the right ones triumphed, it would leave the victors as well as the vanquished weakened.

"The renunciation of force beforehand and the use of all pacific methods possible, means not the renunciation of justice, but the obtaining of justice."

Then, in what seemed a direct appeal to Chancellor Hitler, Osservatore said:

"There can be no man on earth in this tremendous hour of history who would interpret renunciation of force on the part of a powerful nation like Germany as an act or confession of weakness."

LEVY TO FINANCE T. B. CARE GOES ON FALL BALLOT

County's Request to Submit Proposed Half-Mill Tax to Voters Approved.

A proposed half-mill levy to produce funds for the care of Richland county tuberculosis patients will go on the ballot at the Nov. 8 election.

County commissioners' request to submit the proposal was approved last night by the county board of elections.

The levy would produce approximately $41,000 a year for a five-year period, C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of commissioners, estimated.

Seen As Only Answer.

"We have considered every angle of this problem of hospitalization of tuberculosis patients, and a levy appears as the only answer," Mitchell said.

He pointed out that the cost is increasing yearly and that the $16,000 appropriated this year will fall short of the amount needed to pay bills.

The funds provide for care of patients in hospitals outside the county and at their homes in the city and pay the salary of a special nurse to attend home cases.

In past years, when the appropriation for care of patients was exhausted, additional appropriations were made from the general fund, Mitchell said. Now, however, the expense has become so great that the county can no longer carry the burden with its present income, he added.

WPA WILL ASK BIDS ON TRUCKS

Plans to Rent Equipment In Future On Competitive Basis.

WPA officials today announced that as quickly as the transition can be effected, all trucks employed by WPA and paid from federal funds will be hired on a competitive bid basis

As the result individual and fleet owners of 1½ and 2-ton trucks are being asked to bid on an hourly rate price, including driver, fuel and maintenance for the period ending June 30, 1939

Glenn Weller, city-WPA engineer said that contract blanks are now available to all truck owners in Richland county at his office in the city building Bidding dates will be announced later

He explained that for the past two years no trucks have been used on WPA projects in Richland county.

NOVELIST DIES

Wolfe, Author of "Time And the River" Succumbs In Maryland.

BALTIMORE, Md. — (INS — Thomas Wolfe, brilliant young American novelist, died here today at the Johns Hopkins hospital.

His death was caused by infection of the kidneys and heart that followed an attack of pneumonia, suffered in July.

Wolfe, author of "Time And the River," and "Look Homeward Angel," was regarded as one of the most promising writers in this country.

DRIVE RENEWED FOR ANNEXATION

South Boulevards Association Reorganizes, Presses Drive to Solve Sewer Problem.

Fifty members of the South Boulevards association elected directors and officers last night and decided to renew their drive for annexation to the city of Mansfield.

Faced with the problem of providing a sanitary sewer system to comply with health department requirements, residents of the suburban district, south of the city, said they must either become a part of Mansfield or incorporate so as to be eligible to issue bonds to finance a sewage project.

They argued that annexation to Mansfield now would permit them to apply for a WPA allocation for their proposed sewer project.

Submitted to city council several weeks ago, a petition for annexation has been tabled, officers of the association said. County commissioners approved the request before it went to council.

Dr. Chester W. Frickman was elected president last night to succeed R. K. Clark, who was chosen treasurer of the association. Ralph Bemiller was elected vice president, and Harry B. Scoles, secretary Scoles, Clark and M. E. Madden were chosen directors for two-year terms. The association has seven directors.

The South Boulevards area has 93 homes and a population of approximately 350 persons, Clark said.

inated and consequently re-elected.

The popular vote at that point, including incomplete returns from 157 of the counties, was:

Talmadge 90,211.
Camp, 67,211.

The New Deal also was an issue in the gubernatorial race but the result was reversed. Gov. E. D. Rivers, seeking renomination on a "little New Deal" platform, had a lead of 144 units in 48 counties over Hugh Howell's 72 units in 32 counties, with 80 counties reported. Two other gubernatorial candidates, John J. Mangham and Robert F. Wood, were not in the race.

The popular vote was. Rivers 135,473; Howell 113,231.

Four congressmen were unopposed for renomination.

Rep. Malcolm C Tarver was renominated in the Seventh district, Rep. Robert Ramspeck won renomination in the Fifth.

In the Eighth, Ben Gibbs had a commanding lead for the seat of Rep. Brashwell Dean, retired.

Rep. Hugh Peterson was leading and apparently victorious in the First.

INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE RULED OUT, FAILS TO SIGN PETITIONS

Mark H Myers of Springmill who filed for county commissioner recently on an independent ticket, was disqualified last night by the county board of elections because the petitions had not been signed by Myers

A. F. Porter, board clerk, cited the state law which requires a candidate for office to approve and accept petitions circulated in his behalf by signing them None of the seven petitions submitted by Myers was signed, Porter said

With Myers ruled out, the field is left open to C. L. Mitchell, the Democratic incumbent, and John C Friday, Republican candidate

The election board approved petitions for a vote on local option and the sale of beer and liquor in Springfield township, Cass township and Shiloh. The issues will appear on the ballots in November

Butler township trustees were authorized to re-submit a bond issue for $14 000 for the construction of a new township hall at Adario to replace one destroyed by fire last winter

The proposal was defeated by a slight margin when submitted at a special election last June.

Bellville and Troy township, including the village of Lexington, were authorized to place two proposed operating levies on the ballot in November.

Bellville council seeks a three-mill levy for three years, and Troy township, six-tenths of a mill for two years The levies would provide operating funds.

The election board took no action on the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce petitions asking a vote on the appointment of a non-partisan parks' governing board Signatures have not been checked on the petitions, the board clerks said, but it was expected that the petitions would be approved.

PREMIER AND HITLER CONFER

fail to agree, the same thing holds true.

4. If things go well, there may be agreement for a four-power conference of Britain, France, Germany and Italy to seek a general agreement in Europe designed to preserve peace.

Europe Gets Breather.

Regardless of what happens, the world was provided with a breathing spell just when it seemed on the verge of plunging into the chaos of war. The time gained may be the means of salvation.

On his arrival here, Chamberlain and his party proceeded directly to the Grand hotel, where they will be quartered, before joining Hitler at Haus Wachenfeld, his villa on nearby Obersaltz hill.

Chamberlain arrived at Munich at 12:28 p. m. and left shortly afterwards for Berchtesgaden, 100 miles away. The party had lunch on the train.

Chamberlain was met here by Hitler's military adjutant and Wilhelm Meissner, fourth secretary of state of the chancellery. He was escorted to the hotel through lines of cheering people.

Automobiles awaited them at the hotel to take them up the mountain.

It was understood Chamberlain intends to remain here at least until Saturday, indicating the talks will be long and painstaking.

Britain's Military Chiefs Summoned.

(By United Press)

LONDON—Chiefs of the army, navy and air force went into conference today while Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, carrying with him the hopes of 46,000,000 Britons, flew to Berchtesgaden to talk to Fuehrer Adolf Hitler of Germany in an effort to prevent war over the Czechoslovak minority problem.

Chamberlain flew to make a last stand for peace in the most desperate diplomatic crisis since 1914.

But at the moment he left his official residence at No. 10 Downing street for Heston airport, King George arrived at Euston station from Scotland, ready to sign orders mobilizing the British territorial army and a declaration of war if need be.

A little later, Leslie Hore-Belisha, war minister, Alfred Duff Cooper, first lord of the admiralty; Sir Kingsley Wood, air minister; the principal officers of the high commands of the army, navy and air force met to consider cabinet emergency measures—already perfected—which the government was to take if Chamberlain's mission failed.

At Buckingham palace, King George received Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer and a sort of acting prime minister in Chamberlain's absence, who reported to him on the Czechoslovak situation.

As the prime minister left to meet Hitler, he gave this farewell message to the nation:

"I am going to see the German chancellor because the situation seems to me to be one in which discussions between him and me may have useful consequences.

"My policy has always been to try to ensure peace, and the fuehrer's ready acceptance of my suggestion encourages me to hope that my visit to him will not be without result."

There were suggestions that if the talk succeeded, Chamberlain might go farther and offer Hitler the prospect of a long range peace program including the possibility of colonial concessions.

TAFT DECLARES EXPENSES LOWER

Accounts Duplicated, He Tells Senate Investigators.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Robert A. Taft, Republican senatorial nominee in Ohio, today notified the senate campaign investigating committee that there had been duplication in expense reports filed on his behalf. He estimated his campaign cost about $98,800.

Reports on file with the committee from Taft and from committees that promoted his campaign in various parts of Ohio indicated that the exenditures had run over $103,000.

RELIEF PUZZLE STILL UNSOLVED

ized Fred Stahlheber, clerk, to obtain the data necessary for issuing the notes against anticipated tax receipts.

The law permits borrowing up to 90 per cent on the sales tax collections to 1941 and 70 per cent on anticipated delinquent tax receipts.

Stahlheber said the township would need at least $12,500 for the rest of the year. The township now receives from $1,300 to $1,500 per month from the state to pay bills which average more than $2,000. The township owes $10,000 in relief bills.

Because 28 Ohio counties, including Ashland and Morrow, have not submitted relief data required by the state, 45,000 persons will receive no relief funds from the state this month, William Dixon, state relief director, said today.

Counties were to have supplied the information by Sept. 10, and then the deadline was extended five days, Dixon said.

Township trustees and clerks in Richland county generally are opposed to the plan for borrowing against anticipated sales tax and delinquent tax collections and will turn to the proposal only as a last resort, they indicated last night at a forum meeting at the courthouse.

Bert Fix, veteran clerk from Sharon township, was the only champion of the movement. He urged townships with heavy relief loads to issue short term notes against anticipated sales tax receipts for the next three years.

"We might as well get what we can now, because when we use up all our relief funds, the state will have to do something to provide more, and then we'll be in a position to share in the new program," he said.

Fix said B. L. Lewis, state relief examiner, was compiling delinquent tax figures for all the county's 18 townships in the event they want to borrow against back tax collections. More than half of the townships are paying their own relief costs, with the others obtaining small allocations from the state.

Opposing the borrowing plan was P. G. Krichbaum, Butler township clerk, who said he "couldn't see any wisdom in mortgaging our future when we have no assurance that we can get more funds when we need them."

The 30 trustees and clerks at the meeting were almost unanimous in their disapproval of the wage rate paid on WPA projects. They contended that the WPA rate is far above the prevailing wage paid in most townships, while it is supposed to be on a par with local wages.

William Harris, Plymouth township trustee and chairman of the Township Trustees and Clerks association, said relief clients in his township had been ordered to stop using relief funds for card playing or other amusements and for operating a car unless it is needed in their work.

OK'S HOUSING AUTHORITY HERE

State Approves Establishment of Board to Handle City's Proposed Program.

Housing Authority when set up will make its request to Washington for the funds to conduct the program and will act as a corporation with the authority to buy, sell and rent properties. It is then required to sell bonds in the amount of 10 per cent of the federal grant which are beld as a first lien, amortized from first incomes from the properties.

Model Community Planned.

The government loan would be amortized over a 50-year period at a 2 per tent interest. The interest would be returned to the MHA in the shape of a subsidy to make up the difference in the cost of construction and the income available from the rent or sale.

It also would go to defray the cost of constructing streets, sewers, water lines and lights in the model community.

The program, if started here, will pour most of the $2,000,000 back into Mansfield business channels, as practically all materials used in the construction, including brick, lumber, sanitary fixtures and equipment, stoves and electrical equipment could be purchased locally, besides providing employment virtually to all unemployed tradespeople here.

The MHA would have the opportunity of obtaining consulting engineers from Washington to assist in laying out the model community.

The plans call for the condemnation of living quarters in three sections of the north end of Mansfield, declared by the housing committee and public officials, as unsanitary, fire hazards and the cause for a majority of the juvenile delinquency.

Interest in the slum clearance project was instituted last April when the Chamber of Commerce brought a representative here from the National Association of Housing officials in Washington to speak at a housing clinic.

The representative urged the 25 businessmen present to "get behind" the movement which resulted in Mayor Hunter being selected to name a temporary committee to conduct a survey and determine the need for the program.

BRAKER RETAINS BAPTIST POST

Mansfield Pastor Chosen for New Term as Mansfield Association Moderator.

Rev. Hayes M. Braker, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, was re-elected moderator of the Mansfield Baptist Association at closing sessions of the 119th annual meeting of the group held Wednesday at the First Baptist church in Bucyrus.

The meeting was held in conjunction with the centennial celebration of the Bucyrus church, and was attended by about 200 members representing 10 churches in the association.

Other officers elected were Rev. W. K. Freeman, pastor of the First Baptist church, Galion, vice moderator; Miss Virginia Wolfe, Loudonville, clerk, and W. E. Jones, Mansfield, treasurer.

Among the speakers heard during the day's session were Rev. E. W. Bloomquist of Lima; Miss Marion Bih, a native of Ningpo, China, who pointed out that the present neutrality act is inconsistent under the existing world conditions, and Rev. Charles Conrad, missionary from Burma, who spoke on the educational facilities there. The address of welcome was given by Rev. R. H. Longnecker, pastor of the Bucyrus church.

A meeting of the Baptist Young Peoples Union, held in conjunction with the association meeting, was presided over by Allen Balliet of Mansfield. New officers of the Union are Maynard Hopkins, Galion, president; Allen Balliet, Mansfield, vice president, and Myrle Abele, Mansfield secretary.

The next meeting of the Baptist association will be held at Shelby.

BARES DEMAND FOR ANNEXATION

Sudeten areas in the past three days.

The proclamation declared:

"My compatriots, as a man whom you trust and conscious of my responsibility, I proclaim to the whole world that the use of machine-guns, armored cars and tanks against defenseless Sudeten Germans has reached the highest point of Czech oppression.

"Thereby the Czech people have demonstrated before the whole world that it is definitely impossible for Sudeten Germans and Czechs to live in the same state. The experience of 20 years of oppression and above all the party sacrifices of the past few days make it my duty to declare:

"1. In the year 1919 we were denied the promised right of self-determination and against our wills were forced into the Czech state.

"2. Without at any time renouncing our right for self-determination, we have attempted, by giving frequent sacrifices, to find a proper place in the Czech state.

"3. All our efforts to persuade the Czech people and its responsible leaders to make honorable and just compromises have failed because of their irreconciliability.

Demands Annexation.

"In this hour of Sudeten German extremity I direct to you, the German people and the entire civilized world:

"We wish to live as free German men! We want to work at peace in our homes! We want to return to our home in the reich! God bless us in our just fight."

The cabinet immediately began to study the proclamation at Prague and indicated an answer would be given, possibly this afternoon.

Meanwhile, the government dispatched more troops and tanks to suppress disorders in the Sudeten regions, the death toll of which was not yet fully known.

The figure of 23 was fixed by the government, which is publishing its tabulations only after careful investigation. It appeared certain that many lives were lost, and many more wounded in the fighting along the 125-mile Sudeten border.

"Stop this rebellion before it becomes an European conflict," were instructions to the army, the police and the gendarmerie.

Bent on swift action, it appeared that probably before the end of the day the government would convene one of the special courts provided by martial law at Eger, Sudeten stronghold where officers encountered machine-gun fire as they tried to capture a sniper in Victoria hotel.

The courts are empowered to impose death sentences to be executed within two hours. Both Eger and Schwaderbach, where bitter fighting took place yesterday, were quiet save for military patrols early this morning.

Appraising the critical situation, Czechoslovakia found many reasons for forebodings.

The temper of the Sudeten district next to Germany was high, as extremists among the 3,500,000 Sudeten population kept up their clamor for union for Germany.

There was no war, but casualty lists were appearing in newspapers.

Peace Machinery Fails.

Sudeten-Czechoslovak negotiations for peaceful settlement had broken down. The attitude of Germany seemed, in the government view, more menacing. Konrad Henlein, the Sudeten leader, angered by the deaths of his partymen, was in no mood to reopen the discussions.

The mission of Viscount Runciman, British negotiator, seemed for the moment to have been frustrated in its efforts to bring the disputants back to the council table.

Nor was the government sure what to expect of the meeting between Adolf Hitler and British Premier Chamberlain at Berchtesgaden.

The meeting, it was felt here, might hold out an eleventh hour hope for peace. But officials of Prague wondered whether the peace of Europe might be bought by the British premier at the expense of more sacrifices on the part of Czechoslovakia.

Among the Czech population and in government circles there appeared the stiffest opposition to any concession which would affect national security.

The army especially insisted that the borders remain where they are, that the Sudeten mountains and the long semi-circle of German border fortresses that they concealed remain in the outer defenses of the republic.

The Czechs recalled that their mountain salient often has been called a "fortress built by God," and military authorities pointed out that the present natural frontier—the same as the borders of the ancient Bohemian kingdom—was the most feasible for the defense against any aggression from the west (Germany).

The government also opposed with determination another concession—a plebiscite in the Sudeten region to allow the Germanic population to vote on secession to Germany.

KRESGE'S
THERE IS SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE SUN!
25 to $1
It's our SILKCREST DURA BOND hosiery! Now, if you'll play along with us and do a "Baby Snooks" act with a great big "W-H-Y?", we'll tell you a-l-l about it!
First, DURA BOND is a special new process that really does things to stockings. Instead of leaving the tiny fibres like this with fuzzy edges to catch and snag, it binds them up tightly in a more even, stronger thread, like this. The result? They're unbelievably snag resistant, run resistant, clearer, duller and sheerer! Isn't that something! And our buyer, who knows his stuff, says they wear much, much longer!
Oh, Yes! They're water repellent—pour water on them and it runs right off, which makes them splash and spot proof. And we almost forgot the deep shadow welt. It relieves garter strain and helps prevent runs. We don't say Atlas could hold up the world with it, but it will stand a lot of pulling and tugging!
Are You Listenin'? Here's something really important! SILKCREST DURA BOND is guaranteed. That means—buy it—wear it—and bring it back and get your money if it isn't O.K.
How Much? Well, it ought to be a lot more! We're just softies to sell SILKCREST DURA BOND for only 69c a pair, but that's all it is! We could say you have to pay $1 or even more for hosiery like this most other places—but there isn't any hosiery like this anywhere else, because Silkcrest Dura Bond is exclusive with Kresge's—and are we snooty about that! Ask for it in any of the newest shades.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1938.

Children Grow Up Quickly.

EVERY parent who has a grown son or daughter will realize how quickly the time passes between first grade and high school graduation.

Schooling is something that cannot be postponed until a more convenient time—if it is to accomplish desired results in fitting children for later life.

Nor can the safety, sanitation and equipment of school buildings be deferred without jeopardizing the lives and health of children who are now attending school—but who will soon be the men and women that must be depended upon to do every kind of work to be done in the future.

Boys and girls, representing each of Mansfield's public schools, tell in today's News-Journal why they believe the school bond issue should be approved at next Tuesday's special election. These boys and girls have a close-up understanding of present conditions in various buildings. Read what they say . . . get a clear understanding of the plans for building two new junior high schools and making extensive improvements on a number of grade school buildings . . . If you do this you will regard voting FOR the bond issue as your most important duty next Tuesday.

"I went to John Simpson when it was Mansfield Hi," says a writer to The News-Journal, "and I recall what a fire trap that third floor was even then, when there weren't so many of us . . . I was in Texas last year at the time of the explosion in which so many school children lost their lives, and those sights will haunt me all my life . . . I've heard so many discouraging comments and adverse talk I'm afraid the issue won't pass."

Possibly the bond issue will fall short of the required 65 per cent majority—possibly a minority will again be able to defeat the wishes of a majority—BUT NOT IF EVERYONE WHO FAVORS THE SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT PLANS WILL GO TO THE POLLS NEXT TUESDAY AND VOTE FOR IT!

Akron Depicted As 'Ghost City.'

WHETHER Akron is merely among cities suffering from the depression or is the "ghost city" portrayed in the current issue of Liberty magazine, is a subject that will probably be widely discussed this week—and in later weeks when the secretary of the Akron Chamber of Commerce makes promised reply to the article by C. Nelson Sparks, former mayor of the Rubber City.

In his article former Mayor Sparks traces Akron's industrial troubles to the entry of John L. Lewis, and the CIO, into the situation in February, 1936, tracing through to what he depicts as the present situation, of which he says: "Two-thirds of the tire production of two of Akron's largest rubber companies is now being done in other states . . . More than a third of the city's population are on relief . . . Miles of useless brick walls, acres of vacant floor space, testify to a city's desolation . . . Thousands of highly paid rubber workers are now working on WPA at $60 a month . . . Millions of dollars have been lost to the community through cessation of production which has been forced to go elsewhere . . . "

Although on a somewhat larger scale, the picture presented in this article can scarcely fail to be remindful of the fate of the once thriving city of Key West, Fla., after loss of its cigar-making and sponge industries.

Here, at least, is an instance in which "one side of the story" cannot be accepted without hearing the other. While former Mayor Sparks speaks as a close observer and from intimate contact in an official capacity, it is only fair that conclusions not be reached until both sides of the story have been heard.

As Weisman Views National Affairs.

WHEN anything is said by Russell Weisman, along business or economic lines, a vast number of readers are inclined to accept it without question as an expression of dependable views and conscientious beliefs, arrived at after careful study.

The coming of Mr. Weisman to Mansfield today, for attendance at a meeting of bankers of this district, serves to direct additional attention to his new book, "Key to Recovery," recently off the press and already in considerable demand as a readable and informative review and discussion of the economic policies of the Roosevelt administration.

Member of the staff of the department of business and economics of Western Reserve university since 1919, and business writer for the Plain Dealer, Mr. Weisman is a nationally recognized authority in his field of thinking.

In his "Key to Recovery" Mr. Weisman's thesis is that government policies designed to stimulate private enterprise have discouraged it instead, and that the current business depression is the result.

He says, for instance: "The stakes for which we are playing in the United States today are higher than those of recovery and a great increase in national income. They include in addition, free private enterprise, freedom of the individual, freedom of speech and press—democracy itself."

It is a book that can be commended to careful, thoughtful reading—particularly by those who will not read it, but who accept, instead, the pragmatic utterances of economically unschooled visionaries.

Building and Business.

BUILDING, at last, seems to be showing a genuine rise. Not a boom, nor yet a flash in the pan, but a steady response to a strong demand.

Business in general seems to be on a sounder basis. The factories which are opening are doing so not out of speculation or hope of big profits, but because a quiet but forceful demand for the things they make is getting to the point where it may no longer be denied.

If "purge" can now be dropped from political use and restored to its medical significance it may become more efficacious in contributing to clear thinking.

Watching Trends

While Preston Grover is on vacation, persons prominent in the official and political life of the nation and in journalism are conducting this column. Today's guest column is written

By EMORY S. LAND, Rear Admiral and Chairman, U. S. Maritime Commission.

WASHINGTON—Tucked away in the Merchant Marine act, passed by congress in June, 1936, is a little word of tremendous importance. That word is "Parity."

Even though it occurs only once in the law, "Parity" is the fundamental idea behind the policy congress established when it wrote the act. It is the most important word in the act.

It is now the policy of the American government to put American ship operators on a parity of cost with their foreign competitors. That does NOT mean assuring American operators any "margin of profit" advantage over their competitors. It makes them even on reasonable costs.

The ship owners of foreign nations can build and operate their ships cheaper than Americans in the first place, and in the second, foreign governments themselves are committed to huge subsidies to keep their flag in the ports of the world and thereby guarantee the constant flow of raw and manufactured products to and from the homeland.

These things have been said so many times that they may seem trite to some people. By saying them again I may be in the position of a father I heard about who said to his son at dinner:

"Son, after dinner, I want you to come in the library with me to discuss a serious problem. I wish to discuss with you the facts of life."

After dinner the son courteously ushered his father to the library, permitted the old gentleman to precede him through the door, then closed the door and said:

"Now, Dad, just what the hell do you want?"

Supports Sixth of U. S.

THE prosperity of half our inland population is directly dependent upon foreign trade. Surplus farm products must be disposed of abroad. Many manufacturers must market abroad to maintain large production and keep the unit cost low at home. Furthermore, 25,000,000 Americans (one-sixth of the population) actually derive their livelihood, directly or indirectly, from our foreign trade.

American ships are now carrying only 35 per cent of our waterborne commerce. In an emergency, such as war, we may find ourselves with a scarcity of ships because foreign nations would withdraw their ships for their own particular use. We were in just that bad spot in 1914. We spent tremendous sums trying to overcome this deficiency. It is far more practical and economical to build a definite number of ships each year and maintain them in essential commerce trade routes.

It is such a program of replacement the maritime commission is now launched upon. From the standpoint of national defense, the navy department, after a careful inventory, has estimated that the minimum needs for this purpose will be 500 new ships of various types within the next 10 years. Approximately the same number are required to service essential trade routes.

Toward World Prestige.

SINCE the first of this year, orders have been placed for 37 new ships, consisting of 12 tankers, 20 cargo vessels, one passenger liner for the United States lines for use in the North Atlantic and four cargo ships for the American Export lines to be operated in the North Atlantic-Mediterranean and Black Sea trade.

Thus, the first year's quota of 50 ships is not only within reach but before the end of the year the number should go over the quota.

In October, the commission will inaugurate a new and fast luxury passenger liner service to the east coast of South America with the Virginia, the California and the Pennsylvania, to be renamed respectively Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina.

A growing spirit of cooperation pervades the relationships between the government and the shipping industry. Labor conditions are constantly improving. Schools of training for both officers and unlicensed seamen have been initiated by the commission.

Timely Editorial

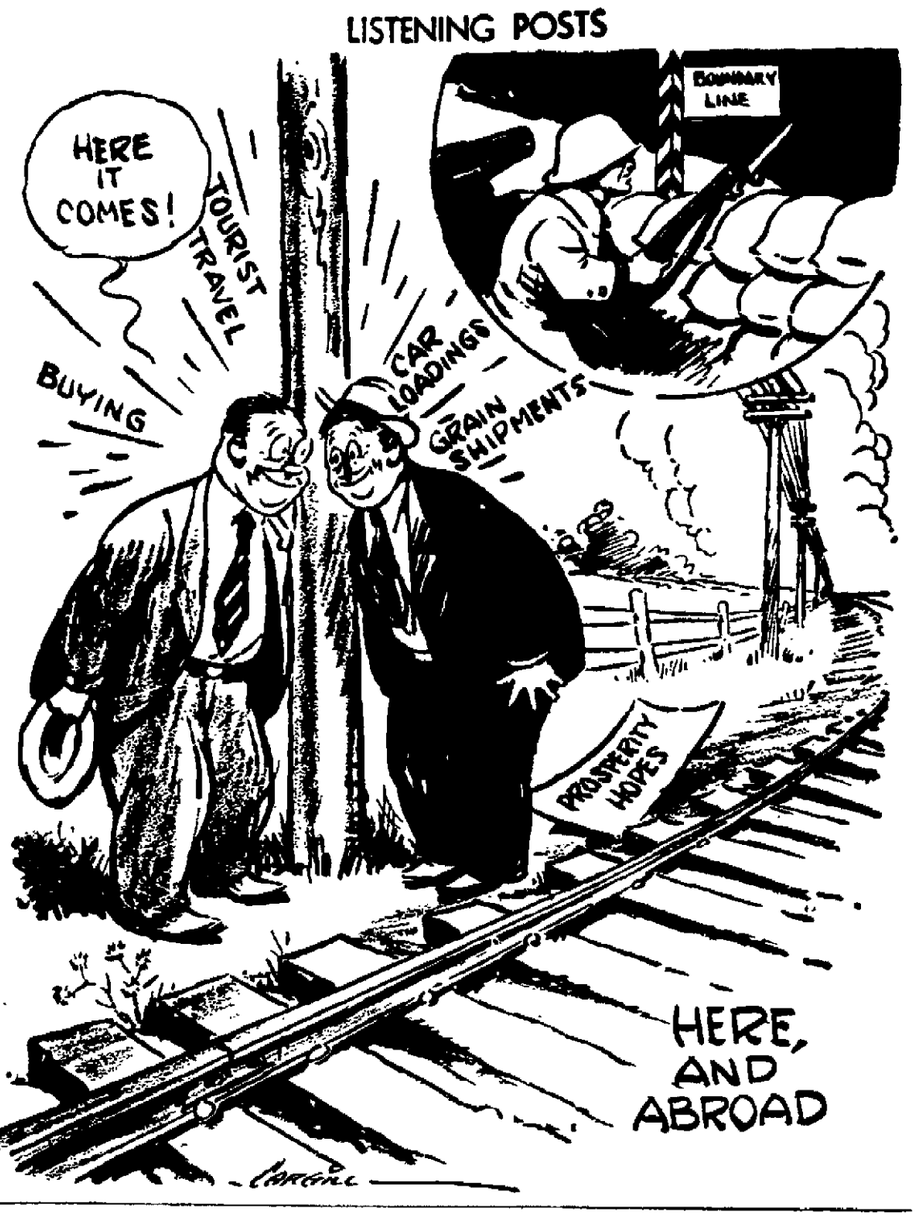
This Age of Promising.

Over in the neighboring state of Illinois the two parties have just adopted their platforms in convention—and each accuses the other of promising too much.

This is hard to understand. Promising is the key word of the present age. It has been assumed as a political duty. How then could any political organization perform it too well?

We suspect that both parties over in Illinois are going to regret their accusations, the Democrats in particular. They are especially bitter in their charges against the G. O. P. They seem resentful, and they have a just cause. They have set the pace in promising and have a right to keep it. In Illinois they speak modestly of their record, claiming that all their promises have been fulfilled. Yet they find it expedient to promise more, but not too much, mind you.

Here is the paradox of the situation. How can any political party expect to command respect and support it if it is not ready to outpromise any other, even on a platform of promises fulfilled?—Kansas City Times.



Pleas for Relief Votes Disturbing

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—The New Jersey women who wanted to refuse the ballot to all persons on relief took a terrible beating from President Roosevelt and from liberals generally. Publicly very few folks came to their support. There was a notable absence of political candidates among those publicly supporting their contention.

But we have not seen the last of this issue. It will probably never get anywhere so far as actually barring those on relief rolls from the registration lists is concerned, but it may get somewhere by indirectly affecting candidacies and issues.

Despite the lack of public support, there are a great many people in and out of public life who think the New Jersey women have a case. No politician wants to say so, because so long as the reliefers stay on the polling lists—and the extreme probability is they will stay there indefinitely—no politician wants to go out of his way to alienate their votes. But it is surprising how many senators and representatives will admit privately to their friends that a man or woman on relief should not be permitted to vote until he or she has removed that particular burden from the backs of the taxpayers.

THE best argument for the side of the New Jersey women has been presented, of course, by Harry L. Hopkins himself. His statement that "naturally" 90% of the WPA workers are for Roosevelt did not sit particularly well even with New Dealers. It is one thing for Democratic leaders to point out that the Hoover administration did nothing and about how terrible the unemployment became, and how much better the Roosevelt administration is doing. That is fine, and if people, believing that, want to vote on the New Deal side in primaries and elections this year, or two years hence, no one can object.

But it is quite another thing to boast that 90% of WPA workers will support Roosevelt's candidates in primaries and elections, because the present administration is feeding them. And it becomes even worse when Hopkins' words conjure up a picture of rival candidates bidding for the relief vote by promising more and more.

There are many more people—including politicians, quiet as they may keep about it—who are shocked by this idea. More than that, they are genuinely frightened as to what it may do to this country if such practices are continued. Which is made more pointed by the fact that nobody even pretends to see the end.

THIS fear is entirely distinct from that which concerns more and more relief, hence more and more taxation, and eventually a financial blowup ending in destruction of present values. It is true that it is closely related, and one may lead to the other. But there are officials in Washington who have defended big relief appropriations, contending that this was the only way to pull the country out of its economic tailspin, who are genuinely disturbed over the idea of a permanent "relief vote" to which every politician hoping to get anywhere would have to cater.

Injection of poll taxes into the argument is not very important. Actually the maximum poll tax at present is $3 and in most states which impose it at all it is much less. The president believes that if it had not been for the Virginia poll tax the New Deal candidates in the second and eighth district primaries would have made much better showings.

It is interesting that when Tennessee leaders wanted to get a favorable vote on a big bond issue for Chattanooga, they waived the poll tax, by special act of the legislature, for that one election alone!

Health Advice

Praise for "Horse and Buggy Doctor."

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I AM DELIGHTED, as is everyone else who knows him, in the success of Dr. Arthur E. Hertzler's book. "The Horse and Buggy Doctor." It was made the Book-of-the-Month club selection for August, and the reviews I have read have all been enthusiastically commendatory. Mr. Clifton Fadiman, one of the most discriminating, says that is a far more honest and real book than the much touted "San Michele" and the over-praised "The Citadel."

Of course it is, Mr. Fadiman, but those of us who have known Dr. Hertzler knew he could write nothing so affected as that silly "San Michele" which always had an air of unreality over it for me. And as for "The Citadel," all I can say is that Dr. Hertzler is a REAL doctor.

"The Horse and Buggy Doctor" is the autobiography of a man who with a good education in medicine, elected to practice medicine in the little town of Halstead, Kas. In the course of time he built a hospital there. He has written a number of books on medical subjects. He has made many valuable original contributions to medical knowledge. He has practically revolutionized, for instance, the use of local anesthesia in surgery. To this small town have come so many patients that he has had to enlarge his hospital several times. He treats many hundred patients a day. He is more respected for his knowledge and skill than any other surgeon in that district, and I know because that is the district in which I live.

Dr. Hertzler tells this remarkable story in an inimitable way. I am not going to spoil the book for you by quoting or abstracting it.

He performed surgical operations during most of his early life, not in a fine operating room in a hospital, but in the kitchen of a farm house. The kitchen table was the operating room, the wash boiler was the sterilizer, the family doctor was the assistant. I have done the same thing myself. For from a handicap we got some of the best results ever obtained in surgery.

Dr. Hertzler's book records a typical period in the medical life of our western states. It was a wholesome period for the medical profession. There was not the affectation that doctors put on nowadays. Incidentally, it was easy on the patient's pocketbook. I never heard of a patient who protested one of Dr. Hertzler's bills. Perhaps because they were "reasonable." Maybe that is why people had more confidence in doctors then than now.

Only those of us who know Dr. Hertzler, though, know how really good he is. In this book he likes to give the impression that he is just a sort of homely, commonsense philosopher who has picked up a little experience from a country practice. He is, as a matter of fact, the finest surgical pathologist in the United States. And one of the deftest operators I ever saw. Anybody who reads this book must come away with more respect for human nature.

A Farmer's Diary

They Planted Flowers.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE clematis about our porch is in its glory. It spreads along the eaves, a cloud of lacy bloom. All summer the winding tendrils have been climbing, spreading, stretching. Deep and green, they have clothed the porch in shade and privacy. Now the need for shade is past, and they are culminating their usefulness with a burst of beauty. "We lived in that house seven years," a neighbor said. "I planted that vine from the seed. How it has grown!"

The trumpet vine along the garden fence has flaunted clusters of orange trumpets all summer long. From early to late, the humming birds have haunted it. They alone have access to the deep-hidden sweetness of the flowers. The twisted, gnarled stem of this old vine is two inches thick. It curls around the rotting palings of the fence and holds it up, although the other part of it is long since gone. The hands that built that first old fence may have planted the trumpet vine.

Beside one of the pillars of the middle porch we saw a morning glory sprout. It stood two inches high, in midsummer, and had two leaves. We watered it, and slowly it gained strength. Then magically, it began to climb and twine about the post, and to send out long pointed buds. This morning I stood on the steps and counted twenty wide, blue blossoms. It hides the whole end of the veranda and uses that old pillar as support, for such a transient glory that one marvels at the miracle of a small black seed.

"I see the morning glory came up again," remarked a caller. "I planted some there, when we lived here, last summer."

The vivid crimson coleus in my wife's fernery was a gift from a neighbor who came with two of them last autumn.

"It seemed too bad to let these freeze," she said. "Hugh dug them up, and I don't have room. Maybe you'll like them."

The plants grow easily from slips. During this summer I have seen almost every visitor at our home depart with a little, red, potted coleus. That neighborly gift has been scattered to several states, and many other counties.

Listen, World!

"Each Goes Alone."

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THESE modern career women, why aren't they happy? These brilliant, exotic creatures with their amazing efficiency, their unprecedented freedom, their unparalleled privilege and power . . . why aren't they content? What hunger or hurt or frustrated hope haunts their mascaraed eyes . . . hardens the curve of their painted lips?

Marjorie Hillis asks these questions in her new book, "Work Ends at Nightfall." (Bobbs Merrill, Publishers). Remember her "Live Alone and Like It" which for all its seeming innocence, set so many a-gasping, clutching at their masks? Now she's at it again, taking the Modern Female apart, seeing how she ticks. Or why she doesn't!

Seven women sit at a cafe table as the curtain rises . . . seven sleek, successful working women, each outwardly content, each hiding in her heart a gnawing doubt.

On a party bent.
Seven working women
Groomed and affluent.
Ordering a cocktail,
Eating cavair,
Canapes and popcorn,
Tidbits from the bar—
* * *
"Seven working women
End a long day;
Proud that they can pay."

Proud, too, that they need no longer ask some man for the right to live, or bend to some convention, or cringe before some sentimentality. Freedom, what a glorious thing it is! And yet, beneath the superficial chatter, that mocking doubt goes on. Why hasn't freedom, for all its glory, brought fulfilment . . . why hasn't success brought real pride . . . or romantic adventuring, real delight . . . or home-making, real content . . . or marriage, real companionship?

The laughing chatter rises and falls . . . the smoke tendrils tremble and twine . . . the delicately featured faces advance and recede through the webbing shadows. But behind it all there beats the same old cry, "Why? Why? W-H-Y?"

Why are they unfulfilled?

BECAUSE THEY HAVE ASKED TOO MUCH AND SOUGHT IN THE WRONG PLACE.

Having won so much from life, they have expected to win more . . . having been given so much, they demand to be given all. They have not been satisfied to accept the half-way answers their mothers accepted . . . the imperfect compromises and substitutes. Because the law has set them free, legally, they had thought they were free in every way . . . free for the perfect answers. And so they had looked for those perfect answers, each in her own way . . . in ambition . . . in a beautifully appointed home . . . in lovers . . . in a husband . . . artistic success . . . in a baby.

But none had proved the perfect answer? Why not?

So, through eyes that had been washed clear by service, through a heart that had been widened by compassion, Martha saw the truth—

"Life is a problem everyone must meet
Himself. However closely bound two people be,
In the inevitable last retreat,
Each goes alone into eternity."

"EACH GOES ALONE"—until we know that, we know nothing. Each goes alone—Not work, or passion, or beauty, or adventure, or the struggle of ambition or even the love of mate and babe can ever break through that aloneness and give us that which we want. We alone must find that which we want, within ourselves. Or forever go without.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Sometimes you read several different stories in a newspaper and they add up. Like today for instance. There was the item about A. C. Blumenthal and his estranged wife, Peggy Fears, wrangling over a new separation settlement. Then there was an item about Jimmy Walker, erstwhile daring young man on New York's political trapeze, who is now an able though I will wager an unhappy lawyer.

Jimmy Walker is still amazingly popular in this town. Hundreds of thousands of people love him. And "Blumey" is a fantastic and affable millionaire who leaps from one court skirmish to another with the agility of a mountain goat taking the crags on high. As for Miss Fears, she is the beauteous actress who, tired of acting, turned play producer with no luck.

BUT, let's go back a few years, after the Samuel Seabury investigation which caused Jimmy to resign as mayor of the world's largest city and seek temporary retirement abroad.

During those hectic days Jimmy lived at the Mayfair hotel. Nearby, at the Ambassador, Blumenthal maintained an extravagant apartment. It must have had 15 rooms, and it was the sort of happy-go-lucky household found only in movie scenarios or Broadway stage scripts.

But you could get into Blumey's apartment. Everybody was welcome at Blumey's apartment. I mean, everybody liked the guy and had a genuine affection for him. And Jimmy Walker was no exception. Often, while the cops formed a barrier before his own door, Jimmy would be across the street, taking his ease in Blumey's apartment.

There was a Broadway reporter at that time who knew of the close friendship between Walker and Blumenthal. So he walked into the apartment one afternoon to see if he could get wind of Walker's whereabouts. For four days and nights he stayed there without a single soul asking his name or inquiring after his wants. They were very hospitable, fed him on the choicest foods, wined him on the finest wines.

MEANWHILE, Jimmy walked in every three or four hours, and when he did the reporter ambled back into the kitchen and telephoned the story into his office.

During this delightful stay with the Blumenthals, Peggy Fears, who was then about to produce "Nona," was having Lenore Ulric's portrait painted. Miss Ulric was the actress nominated for the lead in "Nona." One day the artist departed for an art shop to procure some needed equipment and Blumey walked into the room. The reporter was there inspecting the half-completed canvas. "My dear fellow," cried Blumey, "what a marvelous picture you are painting. I congratulate you. It is a perfect likeness."

The reporter said, "Thank you very much."

Things like that were everyday occurrences in the menage of A. C. Blumenthal, one of Manhattan's most fantastic, withal likable, characters. It's just his way.

CITY'S NEWEST THEATER OPENS DOORS TONIGHT

A gala "Hollywood Premier," complete with motion picture cameras, kleig lights, camera technicians, and a director, will officially open Mansfield's newest theater, the Park, at South Park and Diamond streets at 7 p. m today.

The public will see the inside of the new $200,000 institution for the first time after Mayor Claude M. Hunter cuts a ribbon across the entrance. An address of welcome by the mayor will precede the ceremony

Eight other city officials have been invited to take part in the opening ceremonies by Ralph H. Shaffer, manager of the new Park. They are Earl A. Nist, service-safety director; Paul Kelly, city auditor; James Herlihy, waterworks superintendent, Mead K. Bates, chief of police, Charles J Seeburger, fire chief, G. E. Kalbfleisch, municipal court judge; Glenn Davidson, city treasurer, and Marion Ward, jr, city solicitor

The opening ceremonies will be directed by T J. Carroll of Akron, who will act as master of ceremonies Carroll also will introduce the public, and theater officials attending the first show. Motion pictures will be taken of the opening.

Officials of the Interstate Theaters, Inc, operators of the new Park, who will be here for the opening are A G Constant president, and George Delis, district manager.

Has Capacity of 1,300.

The new theater, built at an approximate cost of $200,000, has a seating capacity of 1,300, and is fireproof throughout. The building is constructed of steel, concrete, and concrete blocks, with the exterior done in yellow brick, and white stone. It has a frontage of 60 feet and is 200 feet deep.

The latest and most modern of theater equipment, new color designs, artistic decorations, beautifully blended interior furnishings, and technical sound apparatus of the most modern type are among the many features of this new movie house

In front of the theater is one of the largest combination lamps and neon marquees in this section of the state The marquee weighs 15 tons and is 32 feet high. On the huge sign are several thousand electric lights and several thousand feet of neon tubing in colors of red, green and ruby The sign was installed at a cost of $5,000.

The sidewalls of the auditorium and pilasters are decorated in modernistic designs, with the colors of rust, blue and silver predominating. These three colors are the foundation for the decorations of the whole interior The ceiling is done in blue

Walls Specially Treated.

The walls are treated with a special one-inch thickness of felt padding to insure perfect acoustics and is covered with a seaweed damask in a red and tan combination The same damask covering is used on the foyer walls and in front of the projection booth

The front curtain is one of the finest furnishings in the theater It is done in sealplush and copper rust and was custom dyed for the theater The drapery and side legs in front of the curtain are done in seaplush and turquoise blue The same color combination is carried out in the drapes over the exits, and in the drapes covering the two sound chanels in front of the theater

All edges are covered in fancy molding finished in gold leaf Doors in the lobby are done in eggshell damask New varsity type indirect light fixtures are used in the lobby and are custom built Indirect lighting is used in the auditorium Mohair Seats.

The 1300 seats blend with the color scheme of the auditorium interior. The backs of the seats are of a pullman mohair in coral tint and make a striking contrast with the cushions which are upholstered in the same material in a copen blue tint. An elevation of 12 feet in the auditorium insures perfect vision from all seats

The aisles and main lobby floor are covered with one-inch thick carpet, while the lobby floor is covered partially with carpet and a link matting Rest rooms are located to the right and left of the foyer, and have modernistic furnishings

Here's Front View Of New Mansfield Theater

Shown above is a front view of the new Park theater, which has its official opening at 7 p m. today. The theater was built at an approximate cost of $200,000 and has a seating capacity of 1,300 The building extends from South Park street to East Second street. The theater's marquee, also shown, is 32 feet high.

Denver Firemen Learning Art of Deep-Sea Diving

DENVER —(INS)— Firemen in Denver, hundreds of miles from any large body of water and a mile above sea level, are learning the art of deep-sea diving

Fire department officials believe it might come in handy in case of a drowning or in recovering stolen property and valuable articles lost in the water.

Using deep-sea diving equipment, the firemen are practicing in Washington Park lake, where they submerge to a depth of 14 feet. The divers are lowered from two rowboats lashed together

"A man using the outfit can go down 36 feet and can cover a circle with a diameter of 100 feet. That's the length of the hose," Assistant Fire Chief Adolph Larson explained. "He can stay under 45 minutes if he's exceptionally good, with air being pumped to him from a pump in one of the rowboats."

CLUB TO AWARD PRIZES SEPT. 26

SHELBY—The Shelby Country club will stage its annual "stag" party Sept. 26. The affair will feature the presentation of golf awards for the recent tournaments.

Named on committee for the event areC. J. Laser, general chairman; Wade Bricker, lunch and service, and tickets, Harry Sotzen and Harry May.

PARK TO PRESENT DOUBLE-BILLS WITH TWO CHANGES EACH WEEK

Beginning with the opening presentation tonight, the Park theater will operate on a double-bill policy, Manager Ralph H Shaffer announced

The theater has contracted to show first run productions of the Republic and Monogram companies and at various times will play the best in second run features, Shaffer said.

In addition to the two features selected short subjects and RKO Pathe newsreels also will be a part of each show.

A straight picture policy will be in force at all times. The stage is not large enough to present stage productions "Gangs of New York," a Republic picture, with Charles Bickford, will be one of the features of the double bill to follow the opening show.

Two changes of pictures will be made each week with new shows starting on Sunday and Thursday.

NEW THEATER DESIGNED BY 2 ARCHITECTS

Mansfield and Pittsburgh Men Join in Drafting Plans for Movie House.

Two architects joined forces in designing plans for the new Park theater which has its official opening tonight.

The architects are Victor A. Rigaumont, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Charles W. Conklin, 20 Dawson avenue. Conklin, a widely known Mansfield architect and civil engineer, assisted Rigaumont in drawing up the plans for the new theater, and acted as supervising architect. Conklin was on duty during the entire construction period.

Veteran Theater Architect.

Rigaumont, who specializes in the designing of theaters, has designed upwards of 100 theaters in 87 cities and towns throughout the United States.

The style of the new theater, according to Rigaumont, is "functional modern" in keeping with the life of today and pace of things. In constructing the Park theater, every comfort for the patron was taken into consideration, Rigaumont says

Apple Creek to Get Building Under New State Program.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The Applecreek feeble minded institution in Wayne county will be the No. 1 item marked for improvement when the state welfare department building program gets under way, State Welfare Director Margaret Allman has said

"We expect to spend more than $2,000,000 on the Applecreek institution," Mrs. Allman said "Applecreek has always been under developed and we feel that it can be made into the finest place of its kind in the country."

Mrs. Allman said she expected, when repairs were made, to make direct committments to Applecreek of feeble minded persons over six years of age. In the past, Applecreek patients have been transferred from other institutions.

TURKISH FRONT TO BE NOISELESS

Town's Ordinance Provides Fines For Noisy Persons.

ISTANBUL—(UP)—The municipal council is planning to make Istanbul a "city of noiseless night." A new ordinance provides heavy fines and imprisonment for anyone causing unnecessary noise between 8 p. m. and 8 a. m.

The "all quiet" order forbids milkmen and street vendors to "cry their wares" as they have done for centuries. Automobile drivers sounding their horns at night will lose their licenses.

Owners of radios must close their windows at 11 p. m. Defaulters will be fined and have their radio sets confiscated.

MUSKEG BURNS 3 YEARS

Book of the Week

Those of Jack London's admirers who have not already read the serialized version of "Sailor on Horseback" will be delighted to have a full length, sympathetic study of their hero issued today in book form. Those who do not so lavishly admire London may also be delighted, for wittingly or otherwise, Mr. Stone has provided proof of most faults in the man and his writing—documented proof.

As William Troy said of James T. Farrell—"We are here concerned with a genius." However, London began not as a genius, but as the type of small boy most people would like to choke to death. He was illegitimate, which naturally was not his fault. His mother was a woman of ability whose career was ruined by a streak of irresponsibility or worse which cropped up at just the wrong time throughout her life. His father was an itinerant astrologer, his stepfather an honest man who could have made a success of farming had his second wife, Jack's mother, not been the kind of fool she was.

There was poverty, of course. Jack had strange blood in his veins—he would work like a little mule for a time, but suddenly throwing steadiness to the winds, would change himself instantly into an oyster pirate, a tramp, a sailor before the mast, a book worm, a harbor policeman, a waterfront drunk. He was the latter (a most accomplished one) in his middle 'teens.

His writing began with a prize essay in the San Francisco Chronicle. It never really stopped after that. His mind was badly schooled, messed with crackpot ideas, tangled. Just the same, a streak of genuis underlay everything he did. He was a Socialist when socialism was next door to treason. He was an exhibitionist, too, and financially one of the least responsible of men. He contracted sexual alliances which can only be called mad, worked like a ditch digger, and, according to Stone, committed suicide when his creative spring dried up.

Mr. Stone has had the best material one can imagine—the lives of authors are not often so dramatic. His book has many faults in the writing, but the story is there.—By J. S.

INTERESTING FACTS

About the Park Theater's Westinghouse Air Conditioning System

EQUALS 67 TONS OF MELTING ICE. The system provides cooling effect daily equal to the melting of a small mountain of ice.

"IT'S THE HUMIDITY", goes the old saying. True! And the Westinghouse system keeps humidity low in summer, for complete comfort.

THOUSANDS OF CUBIC FEET of air pass through the system every hour. The equivalent of more than 500 large freight cars

Summer Comfort* BY WESTINGHOUSE

"The name that means everything in electricity"

NOTICE, on the remaining hot days of the summer, how really comfortable the new Park Theatre is. No sudden, chilling shock when you enter. Just mild, cool even comfort, that lasts, throughout the show.

There are excellent reasons for this fact. First, the summer air conditioning equipment is all Westinghouse, each unit matched to operate in complete harmony with all others. Second, the system is engineered scientifically to meet maximum conditions. It is never overtaxed, regardless of how hot it is outside, or how large the crowd is inside.

Such is the engineering that characterizes every Westinghouse Air Conditioning installation, whether for small store, large theatre, or home. Whatever your air conditioning problem, get the Westinghouse facts from the Ohio Public Service Company—before you buy a system of any kind.

CITY LABOR AND MATERIAL USED IN NEW THEATER

Mansfielder Had General Contract; Air Conditioning Unit From Westinghouse.

Mansfield labor and materials manufactured and distributed by Mansfield firms were used almost exclusively in the construction of the new Park theater on South Park street.

The building itself was constructed by John Ness, 169 Bartley avenue, general contractor, who used Mansfield labor. Most of the equipment and fixtures were installed by local workers.

Teh theater's cooling equipment, the "last word" in air conditioning equipment, was engineered and installed by Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. The system cleans all air that is circulated inside the theater, removing dirt, dust and pollen. Ten changes of air are made in the auditorium every hour. When the air conditioning equipment is in operation, water is sprayed on the roof, helping to cool the theater.

In addition to the air conditioning equipment, drinking fountains, the master switchboard, and all other switchboxes are Westinghouse products. The switchboard and switchboxes were purchased from the Ohio Public Service company.

Mansfield Equipment.

Electrical equipment used in the theater was furnished by the Hartman-Spreng company of Mansfield. Installation of electrical equipment was done by the Hilsher-Clarke company of Canton Mansfield men were employed under supervision of G. D. Bittner of the Canton firm.

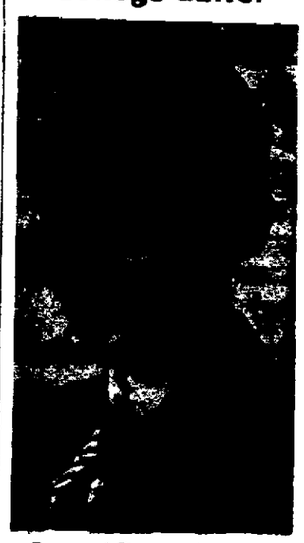
Heating equipment which includes two U. S. Radiator Corporation boilers, were purchased from and installed by the Charles Hoffman company. Plumbing fixtures and sheet metal work also were installed by Hoffman. Lumber, rough and finished, and all woodwork used in construction of the new theater was supplied by the Alta Lumber and Supply company. The modernistic Breche Rose Marlite Marble pattern used both in the vestibule and foyer of the theater also was furnished by this company.

Mason lime, cement, mason sand, concrete sand, gravel, stone and ready-mixed concrete was furnished by Kallmerten & Baer, East Fifth street. Over 30,000 cinder blocks for the entire interior of the building were purchased from the Cement Products Company. These blocks are fireproof as well as soundproof and exclude cold and heat.

The theater is equipped with Reading hardware from the Goetz Hardware company. This includes door checks and all locks used in the building. The large marquee which decorates the front of the building was erected by the Raby Electric Company of Mansfield.

To assure patrons comfort, 1,300 custom built Air-Loc Comfort Zone seats, manufactured by Air-Loc Seating Industries, Inc., have been installed in the theater by the Queen City Studios, Buffalo, N. Y. Drapery decorations, including lobby and exit drapes, sidewall coverings, and the massa front curtain, 44 feet by 24 feet, also were installed by Queen City Studios. Decorating of the theater was done by Louis Albert and Company, decorators, of Canton.

College Editor



Raymond Turner of Mansfield will serve as editor of the Michigan State News, official student newspaper of Michigan State college, East Lansing, Mich., during the fall and winter terms, the college announced today. Turner is a senior forestry student. The paper is published three times weekly and is received by all students and residents of East Lansing. Turner also is president of the board of publications, which makes appointments and is the governing body for all student publications. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs J. R. Turner, 136 Rae avenue

SEEKS PROJECT FOR CITY YOUTH

Request Filed With NYA Asks Vocational Training for Boys From 18 to 25.

A vocational training project that will employ 60 young Mansfield men between the ages of 18 and 25 was filed today with the National Youth Administration headquarters in Columbus by city officials.

As outlined by Glenn Weller, city-WPA engineer, who drafted the project, it is designed to teach the young men the woodworking trade.

Weller said the project would employ 60 youths who would work 23 hours every other week, part of the time being spent in the classroom and part in the shop. They would be paid for actual time on the project which would be operated 10 months and employ boys from homes now on relief or where persons are working on WPA, Weller said.

The project is to be set up in the basement of the North Lake park pavilion with the city paying the rent, heat and light and purchasing materials as its contribution. The NYA, Weller said would furnish all equipment, pay the salaries and the supervisors.

WOMAN KILLED BY FIRING SQUAD

Moscow Terms 'Xenia K' Most Dangerous Female Spy.

MOSCOW—(AP)—A firing squad has ended the career of a dangerous woman spy, according to the Soviet Russian army newspaper Red Star.

It told this story today of how "Xenia K" succeeded in getting a job in the Red army military institute and obtained military information for an unnamed foreign power:

"Xenia K" was the daughter of a big gold field operator and was married to an officer of the anti-Communist White Guard, with whom she escaped to Manchuria after the collapse of the White Guard forces.

AIRSHIP'S FATE IN NAVY RESTS ON NEW CRAFT

Fund Ready for Building Small Dirigibles for U. S. Experimental Purposes.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—This year, the centenary of the birth of Count Ferdinand von Zeppelin, finds a little group of American dirigible experts stoutly defending lighter-than-air craft for commercial transportation and military use.

In the navy and in some commercial offices are men who have sustained on this side of the Atlantic Zeppelin's vision and who are working hard to bring the United States back toward the forefront of dirigible operation.

They have sustained a measure of success despite great popular prejudice against airships after the tragic losses of the Shenandoah, Akron, Macon and Hindenburg. They obtained authorization from congress for the navy to construct a new dirigible at a cost of $3,000,000. The navy already has received funds amounting to $500,000 to start work on the ship. The dirigible will be smaller than the last three naval craft, but it may encourage larger airship operation in the future.

Atlantic Service in Doubt.

In the commercial field the American Zeppelin Transport company continues to seek means by which it can obtain vessels to engage in trans-Atlantic operations. This company has co-operated with Deutsche Zeppelin Reederie in plans for a joint trans-Atlantic service and it was the agent which sought in this country release of helium for the new German dirigible to start experimental flights to the United States this summer.

The company maintains active representatives in New York and Washington in pursuit of its aims. Reportedly it is willing either to purchase airships from Germany to start operation or to have them built in the United States, but its officers supposedly hope eventually to rely upon American built airships.

The big problem in the minds of dirigible enthusiasts here is whether the government will release sufficient helium in the near future for Germans to resume trans-Atlantic flights.

Hydrogen Use Barred.

This question became vital after the destruction of the Hindenburg when the hydrogen with which it was filled exploded, causing heavy loss of life Dr Hugo Eckener, director of the German dirigible service, said that he never again would carry commercial passengers in hydrogen filled airships. The only recourse was to use helium, upon which the government has a virtual monopoly.

'Congress enacted a law to enable Germany to obtain amounts of helium not considered "of military significance." Control of helium export was vested in the munitions control board, composed of representatives of five government departments, including the army and navy. Last December that board approved an allocation of 17,800,000 cubic feet of helium to Germany during 1938. In March it specifically licensed, as required by law, the export of the first shipment of some 2,000,000 cubic feet The license was to American Zeppelin Transport, Inc., as agent for the German company

BALLOTS OUT

Railroads Get Ready for Vote on Call to Strike.

CHICAGO—(INS)—Distribution of strike ballots among the 1,000,000 members of 19 railroad brotherhoods has been started

The railroad men will decide whether to strike if the carriers put a 15 per cent wage cut into effect on Oct. 1.

Officials of the brotherhoods said the tabulation of the votes likely would be completed between Sept 21 and 26 Should the men vote to strike a 30-day truce would be imposed under the railway labor act. During this period a presidential commission would try to settle the dispute.

Plans for the referendum were worked out by the railroad labor executives' association after an attempt of mediators to reach a compromise failed.

$50 Sent Teacher Terminates Unusual 'Sit-Down.'

REGINA—(AP)—The Saskatchewan department of education sent $50 to a teacher at the village of Eyre, near the Alberta border and ended a sitdown strike

Having received no salary since Dec. 31, 1937, and unable to buy gasoline to leave the district, the unnamed teacher threatened to remain at his present boarding place or move into a hotel and charge the bill up to the municipality.

The instructor had received seven dollars a month for groceries but the family with whom he boarded was on relief and could not afford to keep him longer

ON TRIAL OCT. 10

Pittsburgher to Face Charge of Slaying Ohio Patrolman.

CADIZ—(INS)—Bernard Masula, Pittsburgh, Pa., will go on trial in Harrison county common pleas court on Monday, Oct. 10, charged with first degree murder in the slaying a year ago of Highway Patrolman George Conn, it was announced today.

Masula's case was postponed from Sept. 19 to the October date by Judge Barclay W. Moore. The trial of Peter Serino, also of Pittsburgh and under indictment in the Conn slaying, previously had been postponed until Sept. 19.

BEES CEMENTED IN BUILDING

Stubborn Insects Refuse to Leave Razed Structure.

LIVERMORE, Ia. — (AP) — The building which a swarm of bees liked so well as a home has become their tomb.

It all happened because the bees just wouldn't move, despite repeated efforts of workmen to dislodge them.

Four other swarms of bees in the same building heeded the workmen's demands that they take up another abode when wrecking crews started razing part of an old hotel structure.

The fifth swarm insisted on remaining in a section of the building that was to remain standing, so the contractor ordered the bees cemented in between layers of a concrete wall.

4-H Club Boy Puts 190 Pounds On Hog In 122 Days.

HENDERSON, N. C.—(AP)—Edward Bullock, 11-year-old 4-H club boy, did so well with his club pig this year that his father asked him to take charge of all the pigs on the farm.

The boy's pig gained 190.6 pounds in 122 days while four from the same litter cared for by his father put on an average of only 147 pounds of weight each.

After weighing the pigs and figuring the profits, the elder Bullock decided to let his boy look after all the pigs from now on.

TERROR GRIPS SUDETEN AREA, LEADER CLAIMS

Hitler's Aid Declares Czech Government to Blame for Peace Failures.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Konrad Henlein, leader of the Sudeten German party who recognizes Adolf Hitler of Nazi Germany as his chief, cabled the following statement to the United Press.)

By KONRAD HENLEIN
(Copyright, 1938, United Press)

In Sedeten German territory there is reigning untamed terror of Czech military Gendarmes and police. Czech civilians and Communists have been armed by the government. Wednesday there were 20 dead and more than 100 seriously hurt, and several hundred injured. All telephonic communication is interrupted. All streets are occupied and barricaded by the military.

Camouflaged mobilization is being carried out through numerous conscriptions for immediate service.

The Sudeten Germans insist with unbending resolution upon immediate cancellation of all Czech extraordinary measures.

All responsibility for further developments, in the country and beyond, whether it will lead to a new catastrophe, remains with the Czech government.

Sudeten Germans have kept superhuman discipline and patience to the very last moment.

CENSOR INSISTS ON STORY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following notes were telephoned to the Berlin bureau of United Press in German at the insistence of the official German censor by Edward W. Beattie, jr., United Press staff correspondent, who is traveling from Eger, in the heart of Sudeten German territory, to Prague.)

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE, JR.
(UP Staff Correspondent)

EGER, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 15 —(U.P.)— There is no one in the streets; perfect quiet prevails . . . people are going back to work in their shops, stores and factories at noon, they say . . . police and Gendarmerie are everywhere, and there are many troops in the neighborhood . . .

Doors of the Victoria and Welzel hotels have been blown to bits . . . windows are all smashed and bullet holes appear everywhere . . . the official list of dead in last night's battle include one Czech policeman, two other Czechs and three Germans . . . a fourth German was shot dead in the police station . . .

The police declare that the Sudeten Germans planned to make Eger the capital of a "state within a state" . . .

Ohio's Treasury 'Watchdog' Barks At Legion Check

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The watchdog of the Ohio treasury let out another legal bark today.

Arnett Harbage, West Jefferson farmer who looks after state government expenditures with the same interest he does crops and livestock, asked the Franklin county common pleas court, as a taxpayer, to restrain state officials from giving the Ohio American Legion $15,000 to pay expenses of a band, drum corps and a quartet to the Legion national convention in Los Angeles next week.

The state emergency board had voted the money for the trip.

Harbage asked an injunction against State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, Finance Director M. Ray Allison, and Treasurer Clarence Knisley.

The money was requested for the Massillon post drum corps, Canton post band, and Crooksville post quartet.

Harbage recently was successful in restraining payment of "mileage" to state legislators for imaginary trips to the state capital.

Up and Down THE STREET

An unusual exhibition of amateur photography, one that has attracted considerable attention, is on display at the Book shop on West Third street. Ten prints, winners in two competitions sponsored by the Mansfield Photographic society, are candid shots of Central park and animal studies. All were taken by members of the society.

Bulletins on the condition of James Roosevelt, the president's son, who underwent an operation at Rochester, Minn., carried a physician's name familiar to many Mansfielders. He is Dr. George Wood, who assisted in the operation. Dr. Wood is the son-in-law of Rev. and Mrs. M. A. Eakin, 366 Davis road. Dr. Wood and the former Dorothy Eakin were married in Mansfield last April 30. Rev. Eakin retired as pastor of the United Presbyterian church several years ago.

That night-blooming cereus at the H. L. Walters home, 173 Bentley avenue, is causing quite a strain on the family patience, because of its seeming indecision as to when it will bloom. It has been giving indications of blooming for a week now. Of the three buds, one bloomed last night, quite unexpectedly. It's the other two that are complicating the problem now. Mrs. Walters thinks they may pop open tonight—but she wouldn't be surprised if they waited until tomorrow night.

Which goes to prove that Mansfielders really know beauty when they see it. Frank May and Arthur L. Croak, Baku Grotto members, were among the five judges from the Mansfield and Marion Grotto organizations who picked Marilyn Meseke of Marion as the Grotto's entry in the "Miss Ohio" beauty contest early in the summer. Miss Meseke was chosen at a contest staged by the Grotto at Seccalum park, then won the "Miss Ohio" title at Cleveland and finally became "Miss America" at the Atlantic City finals last week-end.

SHERIFF DEFIES OUSTER MOVES

(By United Press)

ELYRIA—Lorain County Sheriff William T. Grall today sought to raise $30,000 bond within 10 days to prevent his disqualification as sheriff after he had posted $10,000 bond Wednesday to guarantee his appearance as a witness in a slot machine expose.

The board of county commissioners increased the sheriff's qualification bond from $15,000 to $30,000 when Sheriff Grall refused to resign at the request of Common Pleas Judges Guy B. Findley and D. A. Cook.

Two court bailiffs held Grall in custody for five hours while he posted the $10,000 bond set by Judge Findley to guarantee his appearance at a material witness in the grand jury's inquiry.

The jury claimed to have uncovered evidence of official corruption in connection with the operation of slot machines in the county.

Chief Deputy Sheriff William G. Smith, who has resigned effective Oct. 1, and Deputy Alfred G. Bauer are both witnesses with the sheriff. All three took advantage of an immunity statute by turning state's evidence and furnishing bond.

Judge Findley said Grall had admitted taking a bribe.

A petition for removal of Grall from office will be started among voters, if the sheriff does not resign by noon, according to W. P. Jenne, member of the county Democratic executive committee.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. IDA TRACY

Former Perrysville Teacher Dies At Home At Age 83.

PERRYSVILLE—Mrs. Ida E. Tracy, 83, a former Perrysville school teacher, died at her home here late yesterday after an extended illness. She was born near here and spent all of her life in this vicinity except for a brief residence in Nebraska.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Daisy Harvey, of Perrysville; a sister, Mrs. Bertha Cobert, and one grandchild, four great-grandchildren and seven great-great-grandchildren. She was a member of the Ashland County Historical society and Perrysville Baptist church.

Services will be held at the Perrysville Baptist church at 2:30 p. m. Saturday with Rev. Meredith Lashley of Ostrander officiating. Burial will be in the Loudonville cemetery. The body is at the Byerly funeral home, Lucas.

EX-MAYOR DIES

Zimmerman of Buffalo Appealed Felony Convictions.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—(AP)—Former Mayor George J. Zimmerman, 56 whose appeal from conviction on six felony counts is pending before a high court, died last night at his home.

Zimmerman was found on the floor of a bathroom by his wife. He was dead when doctors arrived.

ONE PUPIL IN SCHOOL, 600 ON STRIKE WANT COACHES RETURNED

(By United Press)

CINCINNATI—One student reported for classes in St. Bernard high school today. The other 600 high and eleemntary students of the suburban public school were "on strike" in protest of the demotion of two athletic coaches.

A picket line of students and some of their mothers was maintained in front of the group of school buildings.

"They'll stay out until this argument is settled," Mrs. George Sauer, wife of a school board member, said. "They'll be out two weeks if necessary."

The athletic coaches, Albert Milner and Ralph Nieman, have been retained as teachers but have been relieved of their coaching duties. Spokesmen for students and sympathizing parents said, however, that other matters of long standing brought about the strike. They charged the school was in danger of being taken off the approved list of schools.

Louis B. Esselman, school board clerk, warned that the pupils were violating the state compulsory attendance law and that parents could be held responsible for their failure to attend. A state inspector will investigate the trouble Friday.

About 825 pupils in the town's other elementary school were not affected by the strike.

TRUSTEES ACT

Townships Ask Change in Law on Road Equipment Buying.

A resolution asking an amendment to a state law to permit township trustees to purchase road maintenance equipment with gasoline tax funds without the approval of the county engineer was adopted last night by the Richland County Trustees and Clerks association.

The resolution was drawn up by a committee appointed by William Harris, chairman of the organization at the suggestion of P. G. Krichbaum, Butler township clerk. Members of the committee were Krichbaum, Earl Adams, Franklin township, and C. L. Shoup, Plymouth township.

The resolution will be presented to Joseph Thomas, Hayesville, president of the state trustees' and clerks' organization, and later to the state legislature.

The present law requires trustees to obtain the approval of the county engineer before spending gasoline tax funds for equipment.

Don't Be Discouraged, He Tells California "Thumbers."

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—In four years attendance at the University of California at Los Angeles, Fred Auerbach has never paid a bus fare. He figures he has traveled a distance equal to half way around the world by thumbing rides.

Auerbach's advice for success as a hitch-hiker includes the following: Wave the thumb and elbow vigorously; keep a stiff upper lip and put on a big grin; beware of women drivers, and don't be discouraged.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

'BLUNDERS' IN OHIO, NATIONAL REGIMES FLAYED

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Administration of relief by local governmental authority, a non-partisan regulatory board to supervise the distribution of old age pensions, restoration of stable economic conditions for industry and adequate financing of schools were principal planks adopted in the Republican platform today.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Their fall campaign formally launched on a theme of asserted Democratic failures in national and state governments, Ohio Republicans turned today to building a platform on which to seek victory in November elections.

With denunciations of the New Deal and the Democratic state administration still echoing in their ears, the party's state convention delegates met at mid-morning to put their stamp of approval on the platform.

The 22-member resolutions committee met throughout the night and early morning without completing a draft of the platform. Chairman Ed D. Schorr said numerous planks had been offered and were being debated at length.

Completion of the platform will conclude the biennial meeting which opened yesterday with a barrage of oratory.

Taft Blames New Deal.

"There can be little doubt that the present depression," said Robert A. Taft, Cincinnati candidate for U. S. senator, "is the direct result of the serious blunders of the New Dealers, blunders which always accompany the vain effort of any bureaucratic planners to direct the millions of detailed private and business transactions in a vast nation like the United States."

Taft outlined a broad program including stimulation and encouragement of private enterprise by easing tax burdens on business, a balanced federal budget by reduction of governmental operating expenses and a more liberal social security program financed on a "pay-as-you-go" basis instead of the present reserve system.

John W. Bricker, Republican gubernatorial candidate, next poured verbal fire on Charles Sawyer, his opponent, declaring there had been no change in the Democratic party, control which Sawyer criticized during the primary.

BANKERS MEET

300 From Group Six Expected at Westbrook Today.

More than 300 bankers of Group Six of the Ohio Bankers association were expected at the Westbrook country club today for the annual meeting.

The day's program got under way this morning when 80 bankers from the nine-county district participated in an 18-hole golf match.

The business session was set for 3:15 p. m. at which Samuel H. Squire, superintendent of banks in Ohio, will talk on "New Banking Regulations."

At a banquet at 6:30 p. m. the group will hear Wiliam A. Irwin of New York, assistant educational director of the American Institute of Banking speak on "The American Way."

P. H. KIEFFER, 85, DIES IN ASHLAND

Former Blacksmith at McZena Had Lived In County 65 Years.

ASHLAND—Philip H. Kieffer, 85, died early today at Samaritan hospital following a brief illness.

Born April 20, 1853, in Alsace, France, Mr. Kieffer had been a resident of Ashland county for 65 years. He was a blacksmith at nearby McZena for 60 years and was a lifelong member of Peace Lutheran church.

Surviving are his wife, Salome; a brother, George of Columbus; a grandson, Fred H. Long of Ashland, and three great-grandchildren. The body was taken to the Heyl funeral home where services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday with Rev. W. H. Koepplin, pastor of the Lutheran church, officiating. Burial will be in Ashland cemetery.

SPRINGER RITES FRIDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Della Irvin Springer, a former Mansfield resident who died at her home in Toledo Wednesday, will be held at Gibsonburg at 1 p. m. Friday, with services at the Mansfield cemetery preceding burial.

FAIR ENOUGH!

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Senator Tydings of Maryland is a tall, thin man, straight-backed and immaculately dressed, with a preference for double-breasted suits. Representative David J. Lewis, his late opponent, is short, chunky, slightly stooped and silver-haired, and doesn't mind if his suit becomes rumpled or his tie askew.

Herbert Hoover and Charles G. Dawes, arch-conservatives, are double-breasted and wear linen collars, too—in challenging contrast to the professional and conventionalized Sockless Jerrys of American public life.

Clarence Darrow preserved that frowsiness which is generally taken to bespeak vanity forsworn and an obsession with the woes of the forgotten man. He was the type, no question, but he met his equal at Dayton, Tenn., when William Jennings Bryan shucked his shapeless, black alpaca coat and took the witness stand in a dollar shirt, stained with honest, if histrionic, sweat, waving a nickel palmetto fan.

They were an even match, man to man, but Mr. Bryan had the Lord in his corner, whereas Satan handled the bucket in Mr. Darrow's angle of the ropes, and the result never should have been in doubt.

There seems to be something patronizing, and, in truth, subtly insulting to the common man, in the exaggerated imitation of his honest and unavoidable unkemptness by those who would thus appeal to his political favor. Surely, the bird's nest haircut and eyebrows are no badge of principle.

Mr. Bryan, in his days as spieler for the real estate promotion at Coral Gables, Fla., was richly paid, and toward the end of his engagement, the old Pied Piper took the precaution to get his money in advance, not trusting the financial stability of the project which he was recommending to those who had faith in him.

It is reliable hokum, the bagginess and exaggerated indifference to normal neatness which public figures sometimes affect to woo the approval of those whose harsh condition denies them good apparel, warm water and soap. It is reliable, notwithstanding the obvious affectation and an implied suggestion that untidiness is next to godliness.

Yet, it sometimes is an act which mocks the intelligence and personal feelings of the underprivileged, as a lampooning of their misfortune by a mountebank, who would say, "I am the friend of the people, for behold, I am gritty and have B. O. and always spill food on my vest."

There have been public figures of this type in congress, in the lower orders of politics and in the outskirts of the labor movement, who attempted to make a political and social virtue of a personal aversion to plain hygiene.

It is all of a piece with the affectation of lowdown, us-folks oratorical mannerisms, of which Huey Long was a persuasive master, although, in certain moments, the Kingfish could and did speak the purest, double-breasted English.

I must add that I do not apply all this to Mr. Lewis of Maryland. I just happened to see the two descriptions, and they suggested an idea.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—This is about Hedy Lamarr and it ought to be a poem.

It ought to be lyrical with slapsappy phrases. Midnight hair. Scarlet lips. Marble skin. Eyes like blue-green fire glowing deep down in cool and secret bosky dells.

It ought to be a song, a whole symphony—with a dash of swing because Hedy loves swing and her chief exercise is the Big Apple.

So what can I say but: Gosh, here's Glammer!

But what Hedy can say is: "They want me to be a glam-oor girl and I will not BE it! I say again I will not! I see it asked in a paper— should Haidy Lamarr wear a mink coat over slacks? I laugh and say, Yes, Haidy should! Because she will not sacrify her pers'nal life to be deeferent from that which she is!"

All you can say again, to that, is Gosh. Sotto-gosh, because you're mainly just looking. Because there's slim, voluptuous little Hedy, the neatest little orchid Hollywood ever uncovered—er—covered up.

NO EFFORT, either. I remember how Pola Negri, her day's famed exotic, used to set the stage for callers. Fanciest flowers, and the smelliest. Perfume sprayed around so you gagged, waiting for the Grand Entrance.

At Hedy's house, least pretentious of Beverly's bungalows, they forget to set the stage. Ordinary, comfortable furniture; a desk littered with fan mail; a couple of "Algiers" posters haphazardly left in a corner; a few flowers, including a vase of dead roses.

Hedy comes in, starts to shake hands, remembers she's forgotten to wash off the brilliantine she's been slicking her hair with, dashes out again, is back before you've caught your breath from the first reel—and you're still reeling an hour later. (Boy, page Lord Byron—he could do this thing up RIGHT!)

You can analyze it, though, if you're that kind that must, she is Hollywood's first Glamorous Gamin. She's an orchid with a buttercup approach—I mean she forgets about being an orchid.

HEDY, of all people to be concerned about acting art, is. She studied under Reinhardt, and keeps on studying in the movies.

Even with a banker father, she couldn't stand idleness, and took up acting. She says idleness still depresses her, and she was plenty depressed that year at Metro before Wanger borrowed her for "Algiers." She fidgets between pictures, is "terrible-tempered" unless she has nine hours sleep, and goes to parties practically every night. She wants to be "glamorous" only if a role calls for it—and she wants, soonest, to do a costume picture. Costume pictures, she says, get all the attention. (Again we'll skip "Ecstasy," shall we?)

Metro, caught sleeping, is rushing scripts for her. First is "Lady of the Tropics" with Bob Taylor, Josef von Sternberg directing. Hedy is wide-eyed about Joe, admiring him despite his later flops with Dietrich.

(Memo to Joe: Throw away, please, all those Dietrich-ish veils, fishnets and mosquito bars —and shoot Lamarr STRAIGHT!)

ILL SEVEN YEARS, SUCCUMBS AT 79

Michael Kelley, Retired Ashland Couty Farmer, Dies.

The next meeting will be in October with Miss Eleanor Mertz, Raleigh avenue.

SUNSHINE YELLOW

Sunshine yellow is an excellent color for an attic room whose rectangular lines are broken by a sloping roof and dormer windows If there is a dormer alcove, paint its sides a lighter tint This will make it seem as if more light were coming in through the window

If your hands are very dry it's a good idea to rub them over after every washing with a glycerine-containing lotion or cream. If you run short, you can make one up using one ounce of glycerine to three ounces of rosewater, to which ten drops of lemon juice are added. Rub this well in while the hands are still a little moist

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, Sept. 16.

A rather contradictory state of affairs is read from the ruling sidereal operations, with some promise of progress and the removal of all obstructions or congestions. But these may be accompanied by subtle, secretive or undercover transactions which may call for special shrewdness or wise manipulation. The mind will be found equal to such menacing situations. A change or journey may benefit or assist to stabilize doubtful predicaments.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year in which much may depend on their own clever and sagacious grasp of affairs, which seem beset by intrigue, collusion, deceit or subtlety. The mentality should be found able to cope with such "sharp" or secretive traps, and old friends may be ready to co-operate.

A child born on this day may have a quick and able intellect and may desire to explore unusual avenues of study and research conferring with its elders on such exploits into the curious and perhaps fantastic.

By MARIAN MARTIN

Every smart girl of college age will claim this style as her own—since Marian Martin's Pattern 9860 is the newest, sweetest jumper-frock anyone could hope to find. Moreover, from start to finish it's a treat to make up—even for "beginners"—with the helpful Sew Chart giving directions! Note especially the lines through the snug high waist—they suit slim young figures to a "T". Make up the button-front style in wool for cool days, and the other version in a pretty new synthetic for "dates." Pick tub cottons and dressy satins for the charming blouses . . . you'll want several, and may have them long or short-sleeved.

Pattern 9860 may be ordered only in junior and misses' sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Size 14, jumper, requires 2½ yards 54 inch fabric, blouse 1¼ yards 36 inch fabric.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay
"The Authority on Authorities"

GUARD THE WORST

IT IS WELL enough to hope for the best, but the sound declarer also guards against the worst if he can. Any plan which depends for its success upon finding the outstanding six cards of a suit equally divided between the defenders is unsound if there is also available another which will work if one defender has four of the suit.

Six spades was the final contract on this deal, South having opened with 1-Heart and North responding with 2-Diamonds. South then rebid hearts and North called 2-Spades. After a 4-Spade bid by South, North went to 5-Spades and South to 6-Spades.

	♠ A Q J 9 ♥ None ♦ A K J 6 5 2 ♣ 7 4 3
♠ 5 3 2 ♥ K J 8 3 ♦ 4 3 ♣ 10 9 8 6	W. E. N. S.	♠ K 7 ♥ 10 9 4 ♦ Q 10 8 7 ♣ Q J 5 2
	♠ 10 8 6 4 ♥ A Q 7 6 5 2 ♦ 9 ♣ A K

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

The club 2 was East's lead against this contract and was won in the dummy with the K. Next the spade 9 finesse was tried and lost to East's K. He followed up with his spade 7. North then led one more round of trumps to draw the outstanding one. Now he went after the diamond suit, and after cashing the A and K, ruffed the round. To his disappointment, the high diamond was still outstanding and he was set three tricks, as he was obliged to use his last trump to get to his hand after cashing the heart A and club A. The result was that East won a diamond and two clubs at the end.

By trying out the diamond suit at once, South would have assured himself of success.

Tomorrow's Problem.

	♠ Q 9 5 3 ♥ J 5 2 ♦ K J 9 ♣ K 10 4
♠ J 10 7 ♥ A K Q 8 6 3 ♦ 7 2 ♣ A 9	W. E. N. S.	♠ 8 ♥ 7 4 ♦ Q 8 6 4 3 ♣ 7 6 5 3 2
	♠ A K 6 4 2 ♥ 10 9 ♦ A 10 5 ♣ Q J 8

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable).

Unhappy Home Cause Of Failure

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage.

Dr. Frank J. O'Brien, Director of the Board of Education's Child Guidance Bureau, New York City, is of the opinion that unhappy home relationships are found to be a frequent cause of school failures.

"Parental harshness was found to handicap many boys and girls who were repressed at home. The children sought emotonal release at school." Not infrequently, Dr. O'Brien's report points out, "the school is the only place where the children dare to express their resentment against their homes."

In this Dr. O'Brien finds himself in accord with Professor Arthur Bogner, who, like Dr. Sigmund Freud, has been driven from Vienna, and now comes to Washington, D. C., a distinguished emigie with something valuable to offer his adopted land.

Dr. Bogner was formerly a professor at the Emperor Franz Josef Academy, and can write the symbols of four degrees after his name. In Vienna, he received pupils from all over the world. His specialty is the problem child.

"In many cases," he said, he "found that problem children were the children of unhappily married, irritable, nervous couples who lacked the patience to handle a child properly."

Matrimonial martyrdom for two might be regarded as "their own business," but when these unhappy people have children, they let loose into the world a stream of maladjustment and anti-social behavior, which more often than has to be reckoned with by law.

Have you ever gone to a juvenile court and listened to stories told by child delinquents of their home life? As a taxpayer it will give you plenty to think about, for the delinquent child is more than likely to wind up as an inmate of the model prison you'll be taxed to build.

Human nature being what it is, what's to be done about these unhappy homes where quarreling goes on during waking hours? When it comes to picking life partners, men and women seem helpless — hopeless — and their lack of thought is painfully evident in the children they produce. If it were only automobiles they were choosing, instead of husbands and wives, the millenium would be at hand.

Have you ever noticed the average citizen taking thought before h or she invests in a new car? They seek counsel of friends, ferret out eccentricities, good points, as consumption of this or that make. They read vast quantities of literature. The selection of a new car is almost a matter of life and death.

But have you ever noticed these same people barge into matrimony? The average man invariably picks out a wife for her looks. If he's poor and needs a good working partner, nothing attracts him as strongly as the female fashionplate. While every girl expects to marry, it's the exceptional girl who'll learn how to run a household budget, do marketing and turn out a meal that isn't slow poison.

Every college these days seems to include some sort of matrimonial course. Tons of literature has been written on the subject, yet the divorce ratio goes up, and with it the problem child.

What's your remedy for this sad state of affairs?

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I CHEERFULLY could have slapped Philip Veritzen for his unreasonable request to bring Olina as well as Katherine back with me from Queen Olga's sick room.

But Lillian saved me the trouble. She faced him with eyes sparkling.

"My Dear Phil!" she said disdainfully. "Have you gone out of your usually so brilliant mind? If Katherine and Olina both come down, who will stay with Olga? Katherine hasn't permitted anyone save Olina to be in the room."

"I stand corrected," he said stiffly. "But I only take back temporarily my request to see the Princess Olina."

"There isn't the slightest objection to your seeing her, Dear Boy," I heard Lillian say as I went out of the room,, and I grinned with malicious glee at the way in which Philip Veritzen was "getting his come-uppance."

I mounted swiftly to the second floor, and knocked softly at the door of the room with the barred windows where Olga lay.

Olina Answers Knock.

Olina came to the door and I whispered softly:

"Please ask Mrs. Bickett if you can stay with your mother for a little. I want her to look at the baby. She won't be gone long. But don't disturb your mother."

"I'm sure it will be all right," Olina answered. Then she went back into the room, leaving the door an inch ajar, and in another minute Katherine came out, closing the door softly behind her.

"You'd better come into the nursery a minute." I said, "to make the thing plausible if Olina should happen to open the door again."

"You'll face an inquisition from Mother Graham if you do," Katherine warned me. "but it can't be helped."

My mother-in-law was less difficult than we had feared, however. True, she asked avidly as soon as we had come in: "Have they come yet?" And we saw that she had not yet lain down to rest, but when I explained our errand she hurried us away.

Mother Will Help.

"I'll leave my door ajar," she said, "and if Olina comes out, I'll manage her, never fear."

"I know you will, Mother," I told her gratefully, and Katherine and I hurried back down the stairs.

Philip Veritzen was pacing the floor restlessly when we came into the library. He halted the instant he saw us, and bowed rather stiffly to Katherine.

She did not wait for him to speak, but went directly to the point.

"Mrs. Graham told me you wished to see Queen Olga," she said. "I am sorry, but it is utterly impossible. I could not permit it."

Her manner was strictly professional and as Dicky often says, "Katrina can sling the patter better than anybody going."

"For how long?"

Mr. Veritzen's voice was as crisp and business-like as her own.

Will Take Message.

"I cannot say. Not for several days. It all depends upon how rapidly she rallies from her present exhaustion."

"Will you tell her that I am here and would like to see her at the first opportunity?"

"I will keep the message in mind," Katherine answered with the indulgent air of one speaking to a child, "and as soon as I think it will not excite her unduly, I will deliver it to her. But for a time I can do nothing that will in any way excite her. She has been too near collapse for me to take any risk."

"You, of course, have had a physician's opinion," he said next, and his eyes narrowed as he gazed fixedly at the calm woman confronting him.

Katherine looked at him steadily.

"No, we have not," she said.

"May I ask why so vital a precaution has been omitted?" he asked. "Do you realize that a queen's life is at stake?"
